MYSTERY CLOAKS PEN KILLING

WARM RACE WAXING; VAL NEXT?

By B. R. ROTHENBERGER
Star Staff Writer

The hot state Republican race for U.S. Senate got hotter Friday.

Rep. Carl T. Curtis said "You can count me in."

And Val Peterson, former Nebraska governor, said, in effect, "Don't count me out."

The Civil Defense administration said "I am surveying the situation very carefully."

Both issued statements in Lincoln within a few hours after Gov. Robert Crosby named Mrs. Eva Bowring, Merriam, to complete the remaining months of the late Sen. Dwight Griswold's term. Crosby earlier filed for the long term.

Preceding Crosby's filing were those of State Senator Terry Carpenter, Scottsbluff, Dave Martin, Kearney, state GOP Central Committee chairman, Walter Nielsen, Omaha.

Peterson broke his "no-comment" position shortly after Curtis emerged from a University club luncheon which significantly included Joe Wishart, GOP Central Committee treasurer, to say, "I am serving notice to the world that I will file."

Said Peterson, at the Cornhusker Hotel.

"I see no need for haste in any one filing for the long Senate term. Our real concern at this time is to get the best person possible to serve the state, nation and party."

"Anyone elected should support the administration wholeheartedly.

Outside of that I have been visiting my friends and acquaintances in the state and many have suggested that I run. I am surveying the situation very carefully."

Curtis said he would return to Lincoln early next week to make his formal filing.

He left Lincoln a few minutes after his announcement and said that he would spend a few hours in Omaha en route by air to Washington.

Officials Quiz 19 Inmates

Claussen Died Of Fractured Skull

By ROY CAMPBELL and AL EDEE
Star Staff Writers

A veil of mystery Saturday clouded the brutal Good Friday day penitentiary slaying of 70-year-old employee John M. Claussen of 5940 Gillan Rd.

Claussen was superintendent of the prison's printing shop.

The methodical questioning of the 19 inmates who worked in the print shop where Claussen was found in a pool of blood will continue through Saturday, County Attorney Frederick Wagener said.

None of the 19 has yet made a confession.

The key to the mystery is who slipped into the unlocked door leading to the basement of the penitentiary printing plant after hours, beat Claussen over the head and afterwards cut his throat.

Wagener stated Friday night after an autopsy that Claussen "died of a fractured skull." The loss of blood due to the cutting with Claussen's own knife, Wagener said, was only "a contributing cause."

The autopsy showed two heavy blows were struck on the top and side of the head, he said. They were struck by some heavy instrument, he added. The instrument has not yet been found.

The county attorney, with his assistants, Deputy Sheriff Leslie Hasson, and penitentiary officials revisited the print shop Friday night to comb the premises for possible clues.

Piles of 4 pound lead weights used in the printing shop were evident about the room.

The blows came while Claussen was eating his last meal—an apple, a banana and a sandwich.

Wagener pointed out two possible theories:

1. That an inmate had crept down the basement stairs and had walked 28 feet to where Claussen sat eating his meal.

2. That an inmate had stayed down in the print shop with Claussen's permission.

The first theory was in question due to the fact that Claussen had good hearing for a 70-year-old man, Wagener said.

Prison guards stated that only Claussen would know who was in the print shop.

Wagener said that the clothing and shoes of several inmates would be sent back to the FBI laboratory in Washington, D. C., for an examination of blood stains.

"Someone from either the county attorney's office or the sheriff's office will accompany the clothes," he said. Wagener himself will not go.

The clothes will be taken to Washington the first of the week, he said, after the questioning is concluded.

In recounting the details of the killing, Wagener said that Guard Claussen, who had worked at the pen since February, 1941, had been sitting alone eating his lunch of sandwiches and fruit.

Dragged Into Enclosure

Claussen's back was turned to the northeast door of the building that leads both to the laundry above and the printing shop in the basement.

And while he ate, he was viciously slugged on top and on the back of his head. Bleeding, Claussen was dragged by the shoulders more than 80 feet behind two printing machines and into an enclosure of files in the center of the room.

Administration Official Says: Indo-China Might Need U.S. Troops

Statement Brings Congressional Storm

By RUSSELL BRINES
WASHINGTON (AP)—A high administration official expressed belief Friday that American forces should be used to save Indo-China in what he called the unlikely event that all other means fail to hold it against the Communists.

The anonymous statement brought an immediate congressional storm and statements from Sens. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) and Humphrey (D-Minn) that it went beyond administration policy as they know it.

The official said that he did not believe French troops would pull out of Indo-China, but if they did go the U. S. government would be obliged to send military forces into the peninsula. He talked to newsmen with the specification that he should not be identified by name.

Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont) demanded that the official be identified "so that Congress can question him to find out who and what he is speaking for."

"Uses Ike's Phrase

"The United States, as the leader of the free world," the informant said, "cannot afford further retreat in Asia"—a phrase used recently by President Eisenhower.

"I think we can do it without American boys," he added.

But if there is no other way, "we must take the risk of putting American boys in Indo-China, even though it would put the administration in a politically unpopular position." The official said he would support such a move, but noted he was answering a hypothetical question.

Col. De Castries Finally Made A General

PARIS (AP)—Col. Christian de Castries, French commander of besieged Dien Bien Phu, emerged from a long range controversy Friday night as a brigadier general.

The defense ministry announced the battlefield promotion.

In making it, Premier Joseph Laniel's cabinet reversed a decision of April 7 that the 50-year-old cavalryman should not be given the stars of a general until the battle of Dien Bien Phu is decided.

De Castries, 52, was promoted to general's rank March 24 as general of the French first announced his promotion was in the works.

The announcement Friday night, distributed by the French Press Agency, said Laniel and his Cabinet decided at a recent meeting that de Castries should be promoted and the nomination—dated April 16—was now being made official.

Resignation Threat

Overnight there had come advices from Hanoi, the French military headquarters city of north Indo-China, saying de Castries, indignant at the delay in his promotion and recent disciplining of Marshal Alphonse Juin, had threatened last week to resign his commission.

The French Foreign Ministry denied de Castries had ever considered resigning his command.

14 Lost In Storm

...Tugboat Sinks

KETCHIKAN, Alaska (INS)—The Coast Guard announced that 14 men apparently drowned in the sinking of a 140-foot tugboat and a 240-foot barge in a storm in the Gulf of Alaska.

The tug Chelan, believed from Vancouver, B. C., sent an SOS Thursday night at 7:30 Alaska time (4:30 P.M. CST) saying that it was sinking in a blizzard off Cape Decision, Alaska about 60 miles north of Ketchikan.

The distress message was received only by the Coast Guard light station at Cape Decision.

Four Coast Guard planes from Annette Island near Ketchikan and two cutters, one from Ketchikan and one from Sitka, were sent to the scene.

A Coast Guard plane reported Friday that it has sighted wreckage but no sign of any crew members.

SOLONS GIVE MRS. BOWRING WELCOME

By ROSE MCKEE
WASHINGTON (INS)—What was once the world's most exclusive gentlemen's club—the U.S. Senate—has a warm welcome out for Mrs. Eva Bowring, its new GOP member from Nebraska.

For six years Mrs. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Maine) has been the only woman senator.

Largely due to Mrs. Smith's record, the 62-year-old Nebraska will find a willingness on the part of masculine senators to confer respect and equality when she switches from ranching to legislating.

But Mrs. Bowring may find herself faced with a yardstick to measure up to tougher than any she has faced in her ranching career—or tougher than meets most new senators.

Sen. Eugene Millikin (R-

Colo), chairman of the conference which includes all Senate Republicans, said he thought it "wonderful to have another woman in the Senate."

The new senator is certain to receive friendly tips from Mrs. Smith on how to get along with the Senate.

One tip may be lifted from what appears to be Margaret Smith's own code. She likes to think that what she does, she does because she is a person not because she is a woman.

Martin Successor: FREMONT MENTIONED AS GOP HEAD

FREMONT, Neb. (AP)—Dodge County Republican Leaders Friday brought the name of W. W. Spear, Fremont attorney, into speculation as a successor to David Martin of Kearney.

Martin resigned to enter the race for the Republican nomination for the U. S. Senate, long term.

Spear, Dodge County Republican chairman, said he is "undecided" whether he would be available for the state chairmanship, if it were offered to him.

He acknowledged a "number of persons" asked him to seek the post, but said he wasn't "sure I can spare the time from my law practice."

Mrs. W. N. Neff of Fremont, member of the State Central Committee called to Lincoln May 10 to name a successor to Martin, said "naturally I will push for him" (Spear) at the meeting.

Mrs. Arthur Bowring Of Merriman Named Nebraska's New U.S. Senator

... First Woman To Represent State Won't Seek Full Term

By ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

Mrs. Arthur Bowring, Nebraska ranch woman and Republican party worker, Friday was announced as the first woman ever to represent the state in the halls of Congress. She will succeed the late Sen. Dwight Griswold.

Gov. Robert Crosby made the announcement of his selection as interim senator as Mrs. Bowring was being escorted to his office by Mrs. Crosby from the mansion, where she has been staying since Thursday.

Amid the bright lights of television cameras and the flashing bulbs of press cameramen, the new senator-to-be entered the office from the governor's private elevator. Crosby immediately pinned an orchid corsage on her shoulder with advice from his wife on how to proceed.

Mrs. Bowring, reputedly one of the state's wealthiest women, has operated the cattle ranch started as a homestead by her husband, the late Arthur Bowring, near Merriman in 1894.

At present the ranch consists of about 10,000 acres but has varied in size from time to time and once she operated 17,000 acres, running 1,200 Hereford cattle.

She took over personal operation of the Bar-99 ranch in 1944 at the time of her husband's death and also his interest in improving highways of the state and particularly in the sandhills area.

Mrs. Bowring is a member and past director of the Nebraska Stock Growers Association and a member of the Nebraska Cattlemen's Association. She is also a member of several Hereford associations.

Interest in roads inspired by her husband continues and she is president of the Highway 61 Association and a member of the Better Nebraska Association. She was a member of the Governor's Highway Committee that developed a comprehensive plan for highway improvement.

Politically, Mrs. Bowring has been state vice-chairman of the Republican party for eight years. Prior to that she was an active county worker. She has attended two national party conventions.

Her non-political interests include membership in the Audubon Society of Chadron and the Valentine Book club in addition to her work with the Baptist Church with which she is affiliated.

She has been president of the Ladies Legislative League, her husband having served in the Legislature for 10 years.

Mrs. Bowring plans to leave immediately for the ranch to get her business in shape to leave next week to assume her new duties in Washington. There she will join Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine as the two women members of the senate.

However, in the lower house she will find serving seven women law-makers.

Mrs. Bowring announced that she will only serve until her term expires in January and will not be a candidate for re-election.

cure Indo-China," in view of its strategic position as gateway to southeast Asia, he said.

"If we don't," the official said, "it is going to be too late two or three years from now to take the risks."

Far Beyond

Sen. Humphrey, a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, said that "if this is a statement of administration policy, it goes far beyond what we have been told in the Senate," including recent briefings by Secretary of State Dulles.

Sen. Hickenlooper said in a separate interview: "I have no indication that it would be administration policy to send troops into Indo-China under any circumstances."

"If we have such a policy, I'd like to know it but I don't think we have."

Sen. Mansfield said "I disagree with his statement that American troops may be needed to save Indo-China."

Mansfield, also a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, added that "if any such decision has been made the matter should be laid before Congress and the facts should be made known to the American people."

Statehouse Workers Given Holiday Switch

Additional holidays have been declared by Gov. Robert Crosby for state house employees who will be unable to take an Arbor Day vacation next week.

The Saturdays before Memorial Day and the Fourth of July have been declared as holidays giving the employees three-day week ends. The statehouse is usually open until noon on Saturdays.

The Arbor Day holiday was canceled since the Legislature will be in session.

Appointment 'Richly Deserved'—Senator

HASTINGS, Neb. (AP)—Assistant Secretary of Defense Fred A. Seaton Friday called the appointment of Mrs. Eva Bowring to the U. S. Senate "a richly deserved recognition of a splendid woman party worker and leader."

"It also gives recognition of the increasingly important part women play in politics in Nebraska and the nation," said the former U. S. Senator at his home here.

"I am gratified that such a staunch supporter of President Eisenhower and his forward-looking legislative program will represent Nebraska in the United States Senate during the balance of this session."

Benesch Seeks Post In Senate; Swanson Files

After a week of hubbub as Republicans scurried to get into the race for political office, Democrats began to "get into the act" late Friday with filings for the U. S. Senate by Joseph V. Benesch of Omaha and A. E. Swanson of Polk for governor.

The A. E. Swanson filing is a disguise for the Andrew E. Swanson, who two years ago as a Republican candidate for the same office received 8,112 votes. In 1950 he was defeated in the primary for nomination as lieutenant governor as a Republican and the same party rejected his candidacy for governor in 1948.

As a Republican he won the appellation, "Handlebar" due to his flowing mustache. As a Democrat he has trimmed it down.

Considered for Year

Benesch said he has considered filing for the Senate post for the past year and his filing is not the result of recent events in the political field. He served two terms in the unicameral.

The Omaha attorney was born near Octavia of pioneer parents. He was graduated from David City High School in 1917 and after a short period of teaching school he joined the Navy, being discharged in 1919.

He attended the Universities of Nebraska and Chicago and received his law degree from Creighton.

'Curb Spending'

"Government spending must be curbed," Benesch said in a statement. "Our people are overtaxed. Our foreign policy must be definite and strong. Our greatest threat from without is the octopus of Communism with its tentacles encircling and attempting to grab us."

"All foreign and domestic problems can be solved by the never-failing American genius. Our country must be operated and managed for its own citizens and not for the benefit of foreign people or foreign nations."

Benesch said that while he is a Democrat he believes in the two-party system and that both are necessary in our government. He said he was not one that believes the Democrats are always wrong but that he believes the Democrats best represent the rank and file of citizens.

Session Planning In Final Stages

Final preparations are now being made for the special session of the Legislature called for Tuesday.

State Sen. O. H. Liebers, chairman of the Legislative Council tax commission, said his group is planning and working for a quick session.

Liebers said that he could not estimate how long the session would last but as far as the amendments were concerned they "should be able to do the job in seven working days."

Mrs. Bowring 8th Woman In Senate

WASHINGTON (INS) — Mrs. Eva Bowring, Nebraska's new Republican senator, will be the eighth woman in history to serve in the U. S. Senate.

Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Me), who is running for reelection is the seventh. She entered the Senate in 1948 after membership in the lower house.

According to information in the Senate library the others were:

1. Mrs. Rebecca L. Felton (D-Ga.), appointed Nov. 21, 1922, to serve one day.

2. Mrs. Hattie Caraway (D-Ark.), appointed in November, 1931, and elected two months later to fill the unexpired term of her late husband. She was re-elected to a six-year term in November, 1932, and again in 1938, serving until her term ended in 1944.

3. Mrs. Rose Long (D-La.), appointed in February, 1936, to fill the unexpired term of her assassinated husband, Huey Long.

4. Mrs. Dixie Bibb Graves (D-Ala.), appointed in August, 1937, to serve in the seat vacated by Hugo Black when he was appointed to the Supreme Court.

5. Miss Gladys Pyle (R-SD), elected in November, 1938, to serve out the unexpired two months of the late Sen. Peter Norbeck's term.

6. Mrs. Vera C. Bushfield (R-SD), appointed Oct. 6, 1948, to fill the unexpired term of her husband. She resigned Dec. 27, 1948.

Windshield Mystery Is Unsolved

Cops Meet And Weigh Theories By Dozen

EVERETT, Wash. (INS) — Mystery greater than that of "Who Stole the Wedding Bell" confronted 30 western Washington law enforcement officers in Everett as they sought to determine:

1—What phantom force is cracking automobile windshields.

2—Who called the meeting to discuss the pocked windshield mystery.

Officers from Bellingham to Olympia met in the Everett city hall to find the answer to the windshield scourge in northwest Washington.

Instead, they got theories by the dozen and skeptics by the gross. Everything at the meeting was wholesale except expense accounts.

Capt. J. W. Johnson of the Everett Police Department said he assumed the meeting was called by the Seattle Police Department.

Prompt Denial

Detective Capt. C. L. Kemper of the Seattle force promptly stood up and said:

"I thought you called the meeting."

And thus a great gathering of law enforcement officers was born in confusion and continued in confusion for more than two hours.

Sheriff Tom Warnock of Snohomish County inclined to the theory a group of teen-agers with a home-made apparatus was spraying gravel and BB's on windshields.

Capt. Kemper said if every boy in Seattle were handed a BB gun and free ammunition and told to do his worst they couldn't have hit the thousands of cars pocked in the Seattle area alone.

Tide of Complaints

Meantime, more than 1,000 cases of damaged windshields have been reported to authorities from Bellingham south to Tacoma in a continuing tide of complaints unequaled since the "sighting" of the first flying saucers.

West Allies Pleased By Ike Pledge

Powerful Influence Seen In Message

LONDON (AP)—Western European statesmen striving for strength through unity were pleased over President Eisenhower's assurances of solid American support of the European Defense Community (EDC).

The first reaction was that the President's message to the six Western nations will be a powerful influence in making a going concern of EDC.

French, British, Italian, Dutch and West German officials received the American assurances most favorably.

The official comment in France, where EDC's fate hangs in balance, gave warm approval to the President's statement that American Forces will remain in Europe as long as there is a threat to the area covered by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

But a French Foreign Ministry spokesman said that, while such an American guaranty was precisely what was needed, there can be no assurance that Parliament will be satisfied by it.

Crucial Moment

"We warmly welcome the support which the President has given to the EDC project at this crucial moment," a British Foreign Office spokesman said.

He added that the Eisenhower declaration should strengthen the faint-hearted on the continent who were hoping for a clear American statement. On its own account, he said, Britain is very pleased by new assurances that America is trying to find means to give more information on new weapons and military techniques to her Allies.

The reaction in France was being studied most closely to determine whether the Eisenhower message has the effect of allaying French fears over the participation of German military forces in EDC.

Britain has already pledged to keep its troops on the continent to meet the threat of Soviet aggression. With guarantees now from both Britain and the United States, the French Parliament seeks two additional conditions before it will consider EDC ratification. These are an agreement with Germany over the future of the Saar and acceptance of French protocols to the treaty by the West German Parliament.

Mrs. Arthur Bowring Of Merriman Named Nebraska's New U.S. Senator

... First Woman To Represent State Won't Seek Full Term

By ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

Mrs. Arthur Bowring, Nebraska ranch woman and Republican party worker, Friday was announced as the first woman ever to represent the state in the halls of Congress. She will succeed the late Sen. Dwight Griswold.

Gov. Robert Crosby made the announcement of his selection as interim senator as Mrs. Bowring was being escorted to his office by Mrs. Crosby from the mansion, where she has been staying since Thursday.

Amid the bright lights of television cameras and the flashing bulbs of press cameramen, the new senator-to-be entered the office from the governor's private elevator. Crosby immediately pinned an orchid corsage on her shoulder with advice from his wife on how to proceed.

Mrs. Bowring, reputedly one of the state's wealthiest women, has operated the cattle ranch started as a homestead by her husband, the late Arthur Bowring, near Merriman in 1894.

At present the ranch consists of about 10,000 acres but has varied in size from time to time and once she operated 17,000 acres, running 1,200 Hereford cattle.

She took over personal operation of the Bar-99 ranch in 1944 at the time of her husband's death and also his interest in improving highways of the state and particularly in the sandhills area.

Mrs. Bowring is a member and past director of the Nebraska Stock Growers Association and a member of the Nebraska Cattlemen's Association. She is also a member of several Hereford associations.

Interest in roads inspired by her husband continues and she is president of the Highway 61 Association and a member of the Better Nebraska Association. She was a member of the Governor's Highway Committee that developed a comprehensive plan for highway improvement.

Politically, Mrs. Bowring has been state vice-chairman of the Republican party for eight years. Prior to that she was an active county worker. She has attended two national party conventions.

Her non-political interests include membership in the Audubon Society of Chadron and the Valentine Book club in addition to her work with the Baptist Church with which she is affiliated.

She has been president of the Ladies Legislative League, her husband having served in the Legislature for 10 years.

Mrs. Bowring plans to leave immediately for the ranch to get her business in shape to leave next week to assume her new duties in Washington. There she will join Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine as the two women members of the senate.

However, in the lower house she will find serving seven women law-makers.

Mrs. Bowring announced that she will only serve until her term expires in January and will not be a candidate for re-election.

cure Indo-China," in view of its strategic position as gateway to southeast Asia, he said.

Far Beyond

Sen. Humphrey, a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, said that "if this is a statement of administration policy, it goes far beyond what we have been told in the Senate," including recent briefings by Secretary of State Dulles.

Sen. Hickenlooper, "said in a separate interview: 'I have no indication that it would be administration policy to send troops into Indo-China under any circumstances.'"

"If we have such a policy, I'd like to know it but I don't think we have."

Sen. Mansfield said "I disagree with his statement that American troops may be needed to save Indo-China."

Mansfield, also a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, added that "if any such decision has been made the matter should be laid before Congress and the facts should be made known to the American people."

Statehouse Workers

Given Holiday Switch

Additional holidays have been declared by Gov. Robert Crosby for state house employees who will be unable to take an Arbor Day vacation next week.

The Saturdays before Memorial Day and the Fourth of July have been declared as holidays giving the employees three-day week ends. The statehouse is usually open until noon on Saturdays.

The Arbor Day holiday was canceled since the Legislature will be in session.

Governor Congratulates Appointee

Appointment 'Richly Deserved'—Seaton

HASTINGS, Neb. (AP)—Assistant Secretary of Defense Fred A. Seaton Friday called the appointment of Mrs. Eva Bowring to the U. S. Senate "a richly deserved recognition of a splendid woman party worker and leader."

"It also gives recognition of the increasingly important part women play in politics in Nebraska and the nation," said the former U. S. Senator at his home here.

"I am gratified that such a staunch supporter of President Eisenhower and his forward-looking legislative program will represent Nebraska in the United States Senate during the balance of this session."

Benesch Seeks Post In Senate; Swanson Files

After a week of hubbub as Republicans scurried to get into the race for political office, Democrats began to "get into the act" late Friday with filings for the U. S. Senate by Joseph V. Benesch of Omaha and A. E. Swanson of Polk for governor.

The A. E. Swanson filing is a disguise for the Andrew E. Swanson, who two years ago as a Republican candidate for the same office received 8,112 votes. In 1950 he was defeated in the primary for nomination as lieutenant governor as a Republican and the same party rejected his candidacy for governor in 1948.

As a Republican he won the appellation, "Handlebar," due to his flowing mustache. As a Democrat he has trimmed it down.

Considered for Year

Benesch said he has considered filing for the Senate post for the past year and his filing is not the result of recent events in the political field. He served two terms in the unicameral.

The Omaha attorney was born near Octavia of pioneer parents. He was graduated from David City High School in 1917 and after a short period of teaching school he joined the Navy, being discharged in 1919.

He attended the Universities of Nebraska and Chicago and received his law degree from Creighton.

'Curb Spending'

"Government spending must be curbed," Benesch said in a statement. "Our people are overtaxed. Our foreign policy must be definite and strong. Our greatest threat from without is the octopus of Communism with its tentacles encircling and attempting to grab us."

"All foreign and domestic problems can be solved by the never-failing American genius. Our country must be operated and managed for its own citizens and not for the benefit of foreign people or foreign nations."

Benesch said that while he is a Democrat he believes in the two-party system and that both are necessary in our government. He said he was not one that believes the Democrats are always right and the Republicans always wrong but that he believes the Democrats best represent the rank and file of citizens.

Session Planning In Final Stages

Final preparations are now being made for the special session of the Legislature called for Tuesday.

State Sen. O. H. Liebers, chairman of the Legislative Council tax commission, said his group is planning and working for a quick session.

Liebers said that he could not estimate how long the session would last but as far as the amendments were concerned they "should be able to do the job in seven working days."

Mrs. Bowring, 8th Woman In Senate

WASHINGTON (INS)—Mrs. Eva Bowring, Nebraska's new Republican senator, will be the eighth woman in history to serve in the U. S. Senate.

Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Me.), who is running for reelection is the seventh. She entered the Senate in 1948 after membership in the lower house.

According to information in the Senate library the others were:

1. Mrs. Rebecca L. Felton (D-Ga.), appointed Nov. 21, 1922, to serve one day.

2. Mrs. Hattie Caraway (D-Ark.), appointed in November, 1931, and elected two months later to fill the unexpired term of her late husband. She was re-elected to a six-year term in November, 1932, and again in 1938, serving until her term ended in 1944.

3. Mrs. Rose Long (D-La.), appointed in February, 1936, to fill the unexpired term of her assassinated husband, Huey Long.

4. Mrs. Dixie Bibb Graves (D-Ala.), appointed in August, 1937, to serve in the seat vacated by Hugo Black when he was appointed to the Supreme Court.

5. Miss Gladys Pyle (R-SD), elected in November, 1938, to serve out the unexpired two months of the late Sen. Peter Norbeck's term.

6. Mrs. Vera C. Bushfield (R-SD), appointed Oct. 6, 1948, to fill the unexpired term of her husband. She resigned Dec. 27, 1948.

Windshield Mystery Is Unsolved

Cops Meet And Weigh Theories By Dozen

EVERETT, Wash. (INS)—A mystery greater than that of "Who Stole the Wedding Bell" confronted 30 western Washington law enforcement officers in Everett as they sought to determine:

1—What phantom force is cracking automobile windshields, and

2—Who called the meeting to discuss the pocked windshield mystery.

Officers from Bellingham to Olympia met in the Everett city hall to find the answer to the windshield scourge in northwest Washington.

Instead, they got theories by the dozen and skeptics by the gross. Everything at the meeting was wholesale except expense accounts.

Capt. J. W. Johnson of the Everett Police Department said he assumed the meeting was called by the Seattle Police Department.

Prompt Denial
Detective Capt. C. L. Kemper of the Seattle force promptly stood up and said:

"I thought you called the meeting."

And thus a great gathering of law enforcement officers was born in confusion and continued in confusion for more than two hours.

Sheriff Tom Warnock of Snohomish County inclined to the theory a group of teen-agers with a home-made apparatus was spraying gravel and BB's on windshields.

Capt. Kemper said if every boy in Seattle were handed a BB gun and free ammunition and told to do his worst they couldn't have hit the thousands of cars pocked in the Seattle area alone.

Tide of Complaints
Meantime, more than 1,000 cases of damaged windshields have been reported to authorities from Bellingham south to Tacoma in a continuing tide of complaints unequalled since the "sighting" of the first flying saucers.

pocket knife, the killer slashed his throat "seven or eight times." Investigators found the knife beside the body, along with Claussen's billfold, which was empty, and a new pair of white canvas gloves apparently worn by the killer.

Claussen still was alive when found by Guard Frank Loukota, who had gone to check on why Claussen had not answered a call. Loukota called in Deputy Warden John Greenholtz, who had Claussen transferred to the prison hospital where he died a half hour later. He never regained consciousness.

Stole Back

Guard Loukota found Claussen lying in a pool of blood shortly before 11 a.m. The inmates had been released from the shop at 10:30 because Friday was State-ment Day, a day in which the prisoners once a month check their credits earned for prison work.

Guard L. Bill Aiken, one of the two officers in charge of guards during the day shift, told the press that in Claussen's 13 years at the Penitentiary he had been well liked and never had been the center of any concentrated threats against his life.

Reporters and photographers attempting to get information on the killing were held at bay for more than four hours following a cloak of security thrown around the pen by Wagoner. All information given out, other than the first brief announcement, was attributed to Wagoner who sealed off any indication of leads in the killing.

William Diers, chairman of the Board of Control, said Wagoner had refused letting the press in during the investigation, even to answer minor questions. Diers said Wagoner didn't want any "molesting" while the investigations continued.

Claussen was a native of Omaha, Neb., where he farmed before coming to Lincoln 18 years ago. He was a member of the Lutheran Church and is past master of Jewel Lodge 149 AF&AM at Tobias.

Survivors are a wife, Emma E.; sons, Elmer L. of Washington, D.C., and Roy R. of Sun Valley, Calif.; daughters, Mrs. Ruth L. Schroll of Beatrice, Mrs. Dorothy E. Idt of Kearney and Mrs. JoAnn C. Boldt of Lincoln; six grandchildren; two great grandchildren; brother, Henry C. of Albuquerque.

Funeral will be held at 2 p.m. Monday at Hodgman-Splain. Burial will be in Lincoln Memorial Park.

Water Table Data Revealed In State Geological Map

WASHINGTON (AP)—Nebraska is the first state to be covered almost entirely by a geological survey map showing the configuration and altitude of the water table. Secretary of Interior Douglas McKay said.

The Nebraska map, he explained, is based on data gathered in many years of co-operative studies by the Geological Survey and the Survey Division of the University of Nebraska.

It answers, in part, the important questions as to the direction of movement of ground water in different areas of the state and indicates the ground-water divides between streams, McKay said.

The map, which can be used in conjunction with topographic and geologic information, will aid in locating water supplies and will be of special help to local, state, and federal authorities in planning for the full development of Nebraska's water resources, he added.

The secretary said the compilation was done by Raymond L. Schreurs, survey ground-water geologist, from published and unpublished maps and reports of the bureau and the Conservation and Survey Division of Nebraska.

Six Hours On Cross 'Most Momentous'

"The six hours of Christ on the cross are the most momentous in history," the Rev. Albert C. Burroughs said at Good Friday services sponsored by the Allied Council of Lutheran Churches—Missouri Synod.

"Let a man tell you what he believes about those six hours," he said, "and you will know with certainty the fate of his soul." It was on this theme, he said, that Sir John Bowring wrote the hymn, "In the Cross of Christ I Glory."

"And Thomas Aquinas left his greatest theological work unfinished because he had stood beneath the cross and beheld its glory," the Rev. Mr. Burroughs said. "It prompted him to say, 'That which I have seen today makes all that I have written seem like trash. I shall not write another word.'"

Three-hour union services based on the seven last words from the cross were well-attended throughout the city. Among groups sponsoring Good Friday services were the Lincoln Council of Churches, the National Council of Lutheran Churches in Lincoln, the Greater Lincoln Conservative Ministers Association and Northeast Lincoln churches.

Speakers and the bases for the meditations at the Lincoln Council of Churches service at St. Paul Methodist were:

The Rev. Thomas C. Dick Jr., First-Plymouth Congregational—"Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do."

Dr. Frank A. Court, St. Paul Methodist—"Verily I say unto thee, today thou shalt be with me in paradise."

The Rev. Vance D. Rogers, Trinity Methodist—"Woman, behold thy son! Behold thy mother."

Dr. C. Vin White, First Presbyterian—"My God, My God, why hast thou forsaken me?"

The Rev. Clifford F. Perron, Second Baptist—"I thirst."

The Rev. C. E. A. McKim, Tabernacle Christian—"It is finished."

The Rev. John F. Wichelt, First Evangelical United Brethren—"Father, into thy hands I commend my spirit."

In addition many churches held their own services including the Catholic parishes three-hour observance of the "Tre Ore."

Girl, 6, Drowns

STURGIS, Miss. (AP)—A first-grader drowned when a school bus loaded with 30 students slid off a muddy wooden bridge into a rain-swollen creek near here.

The dead girl was identified as Thelma Ward, 6. The body was found wedged between two seats in the bus, which rolled on its side in three feet of water.

Disaster Area

DENVER (INS)—The eastern half of Elbert County in Colorado has been declared a disaster area by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Gov. Dan Thornton requested inclusion of all the county as a drought-disaster area, but that request was turned down. Portions of 15 Colorado counties are now under disaster area designation due to wind or drought or both.

Scientist 'Loyal'

WASHINGTON (INS)—A high administration official said he believes nuclear scientist J. Robert Oppenheimer is loyal and that he should not be permanently barred from defense work if he is found to have a trustworthy record over the years.

The official termed the decision a difficult one because the administration must "preserve fundamental American principles and maintain a delicate balance between freedom and security."

M. J. Aksamit Files Bankruptcy Paper

Melvin James Aksamit of 943 G. auto body repairman, has filed in Federal Court a petition in voluntary bankruptcy listing liabilities of $57,726. Of this amount, $57,144 represents damage claims resulting from a car collision June 14, 1953. Suits are pending in District Court.

Claims include: Maggie Kurlmeyer, $20,000; Albert Kurlmeyer, $19,336; Evelyn Harris, $10,140; and Lewallen Harris, $7,668. All are of Schuyler. Petitioner lists assets of $82.50.

Otto Abetz Freed

PARIS (AP)—Otto Abetz, who won notoriety in France as Nazi Germany's ambassador to Vichy, was released from his prison cell at Lille, the French news agency reported.

Paris newspapers had reported earlier that President Rene Coty had commuted Abetz' 20-year sentence and ordered him freed. The offices at the President's palace and other government offices were closed for the Easter holiday and it was not possible to confirm the press reports.

$2 Million Pay

McCarthy Attacked And Praised In Editors' Debate

... Joe Tagged Unreliable News Source

WASHINGTON (AP) —Senator McCarthy (R-Wis) was attacked as an unreliable news source and praised as a hard-hitting crusader in a debate before the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

James Kerney, vice president and editor of the Trenton (N.J.) Times, made the accusation of unreliability.

Defending the Wisconsin senator was Sam Houston Day, managing editor of the New York Journal-American, who said McCarthy should be getting more newspaper support in his efforts to root out Communists from public office and the armed services.

The debate topped another busy day of speech-making and briefing for the nation's 400 editors. They also heard:

Planning Difficult

1. Vice President Nixon made an off-the-record talk.

2. Paul Block Jr., co-publisher of the Toledo Blade, assert that secrecy on atomic developments has made civil defense planning more difficult and hindered development of a continental defense system.

Block's message was part of a general report by the society's committee on freedom of information headed by J. Russell Wiggins, managing editor of the Washington Post and Times-Herald. The full report mentioned general improvement in the government's information policies. But Wiggins said a federal law is needed to force officials to disclose non-military information if they refuse to do so voluntarily.

3. Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell says that while latest unemployment figures are higher than a year ago they are "notably lower" than in 1950. He expressed belief "the economic downturn is slowing appreciably and may have reached a standstill."

"Urgent Job"

4. Theodore C. Streibert, director of the U. S. Information Agency, appeal for the editors' aid in the "desperately urgent job" of telling the story of democracy abroad. He said 300 American publishers are participating in this program and last year supplied 1,100 reprints of articles and 30,000 photographs for foreign use.

5. Postmaster General Summerfield argued that the postal service can only be made self-sustaining through the higher post rates he recommended to Congress last year.

In the debate over McCarthy, Editor Day granted that the senator "exaggerates in his accusations and sometimes goes half-cocked," and that he shouldn't do it. He also acknowledged that McCarthy "ruins roughshod over witnesses and talks crudely in the language of politics." But he argued tough talk is justified when one is dealing with "Fifth Amendment Communists" and their defenders.

"As a newspaperman," Day said, "I believe the presence in our armed forces of even one person of doubtful loyalty is news."

Kerney said editors necessarily must take into account that McCarthy's charges generally are "unsupported by evidence," and continued:

"When a local news source proves unreliable, we discount it. Shouldn't we do the same thing with a national news source?"

Suit To Halt Steam Plant Bonds Filed

COLUMBUS, Neb. (AP) —The Custer County Public Power District Friday took action in an effort to halt the Nebraska Public Power System from issuing $17,600,000 in bonds to finance a proposed new power plant near Beatrice.

CCPPD filed suit in Platte County District Court here. Joining with the Custer County District in filing the summons were the Elkhorn Rural Public Power District, Franklin County Electric Membership Corp., Twin Valley Public Power District and Wayne County Rural Public Power District.

The suit was filed against the Loup River Public Power District, Platte Valley Public Power District, Nebraska Public Power System Budget Board, the Nebraska Public Power System Planning Board, Ray Johnson, auditor of public accounts, and all customers of the Nebraska Public Power System who are on a cost of service basis.

Custer contends NPPS is violating the cost of service contract it has with the rural systems. In addition, the CCPPD holds that the proposed plant could be built for much less money than NPPS proposes to pay.

C. W. Jeffers Dead

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —Charles W. Jeffers, of Washington, D. C., who headed the United Nations reconstruction program in Korea, died at the Army's Letterman General Hospital here. Jeffers, chief of operations for the U.N. project in Korea, was admitted to Letterman last Saturday for treatment of a heart condition.

Two NU Students Get Scholarships For Study In Paris

Fulbright scholarships for study at the University of Paris' institute of art and archeology have been granted to two University of Nebraska students for 1954-55.

Helen Carol Haerer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Haerer of North Platte, and Mary Emily Hartman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sed Hartman of Omaha, are among 239 American students who will receive grants this year for study in France.

Miss Haerer is a senior in teachers college with a major in art. She plans to study visual arts in Paris. Miss Hartman, who will study painting, received her bachelor of arts degree last January.

Prof. R. M. Sandstedt, University of Nebraska agricultural chemist, has been granted $3,000 by the Corn Industries Research Foundation to enable him to continue his research.

Prof. Sandstedt is making a visual study of high-speed reactions which take place during certain phases of starch gelatinization.

The new grant brings to $8,000 the amount Corn Industries Research has provided for Prof. Sandstedt's sound movies. The films are the first of their kind made on the subject and are being produced by the university's photographic productions division.

Why Not Protection?

A reader comes forward with a suggestion to protect the lives of members of Nebraska's Safety Patrol.

Recalling that twice in recent years members of the patrol have been shot and fatally wounded while performing their duties, this reader suggests that patrolmen equipped with bullet-proof vests stand a better chance against desperate men when participating in manhunts. The suggestion does have merit. No officer engaged in law-enforcement can be assured that the very real hazards involved in his calling can be eliminated.

But in the case of Patrolman Hansen, a bullet-proof jacket would have protected him and saved his life.

We expect our law-enforcement officers to be alert and vigilant at all times in stamping out lawlessness and violence. At very little cost, the inherent dangers which are a part of their duties can be and should be lessened as much as possible.

These Age-Old Hatreds

President Eisenhower's week-end statement designed to strengthen the sagging fortunes of EDC, we are told, was issued primarily to quiet French fears of a rearmend Western Germany.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

Gov. Crosby's appointment of Mrs. Arthur Bowring of Merriam to fill the vacancy created by the death of United States Sen. Dwight Griswold could have historic significance. She will be the first Nebraska woman to occupy a Senate seat, in fact in either the House or Senate. A staunch Republican in the party sense, deeply interested in politics since women came to enjoy the privilege of equal suffrage, charming, intelligent, most capable and forthright, no one could say that Mrs. Bowring did not deserve appointment. She earned this recognition and her friends will rejoice with her that it has come to her.

The historic significance of Mrs. Bowring's appointment, however, may not be limited to the fact that she is the first Nebraska woman chosen to take a place in the world's most outstanding parliamentary body. If the Benson farm program comes to a vote before Congress winds up its chores at this session, it appears that the head of the Department of Agriculture may gain a genuine, honest recruit. We could be wrong but we have the feeling that Dwight Griswold would not have gone for the Benson program of flexible price supports.

Though most of his life had been spent in the heart of Nebraska's ranching country, and on the basis of association, Sen. Griswold could have been identified with the recognized livestock view on the support program, he knew the state and its agriculture far too well to nurse any illusions about the present farm controversy. As recently as less than two weeks ago, Mrs. Bowring, attending a Washington conference with a group of Nebraska women, put herself on record, if she was quoted correctly.

John Jarrell, of the Omaha World Herald, had her as saying that, in her judgment, "Secretary Benson stands pretty well with Nebraska farmers." They, she added, "realize that you can't pull pie out of the sky." Yet thousands of Nebraska wheat growers have expressed themselves overwhelmingly in favor of the present program whenever the issue came to a referendum. The last referendum of the wheat growers saw the present price support plan endorsed by more than 85 per cent of all those participating. And we doubt seriously that the majority of Nebraska corn growers, realizing that lower prices for corn at present costs of production mean reduced income for them, look upon the Benson plan of flexible supports with overflowing happiness and rejoicing.

Mrs. Bowring operates a ranch at Merriam, a fine ranch, where she raises Hereford cattle. Her herd is of blooded stock, she is an extremely competent operator. The words Mr. Jarrell used in quoting her fall far short of revealing her sound knowledge of one branch of agriculture.

Chances are that there are enough Republicans in both the House and the Senate to stymie Secretary Benson's determined, resolute attitude on agriculture. That was evident in House action earlier in the week when the House insisted on voting more money than Secretary Benson had requested and in sharply criticizing him for not utilizing all the funds Congress had directed should be expended for certain activities. In the Senate, Republican Sen. Milton R. Young of North Dakota, secretary of the Republican Policy Committee, has been the spokesman for a Republican group caustically critical of Secretary Benson. But the vote could be close, especially if the White House chooses to make a last-ditch fight for Mr. Benson's plan of flexible price supports, so close that a single vote could determine it. And if, as Mr. Benson darkly hints, President Eisenhower should veto any measure extending the present farm program to continue supports at 90 per cent of parity, then one single vote assumes greater importance.

We have known Mrs. Bowring for years and have only the greatest respect for her. We do not believe there is anything in the skies today which justifies Secretary Benson's program. Surely the present uncertainties cry out against it. Already drought in some of the chief wheat-producing states establishes that the harvest for 1954 will be short. Mr. Benson may discover that unfavorable conditions in some of the principal wheat-and-corn-producing states of the Union will go a long way towards solving the problem of surpluses which seem to cause him so much apprehension. If conditions abroad are one-half as bad as presently pictured, with Secretary Dulles frantically seeking a solution, we may be thankful for these surplus stocks of wheat and corn and other farm items. Not to criticize Mrs. Bowring, this paper cannot bring itself to believe that the Benson farm program is in the interest of the rural peoples of Nebraska. And she may have had that in mind when she told reporters that while generally she would follow administration policies, she would reserve the right to exercise her own, independent judgment. That is a fine spirit with which to enter upon her duties.

There was nothing in the President's statement to justify the conclusion which has been drawn by Washington newspapermen. Mr. Eisenhower's assurance to Western European governments that the United States would continue to maintain armed forces in Western Europe naturally could not have been expected to touch upon such matters of old rivalries so closely and so delicately related to the European Defense Community program.

There is perhaps the greatest handicap under which this and preceding administrations have labored in making foreign policy intelligible to the average American on main street.

Every competent observer who has visited France comes away with the same impression. The coldness of a sizable part of its people, possibly the majority of them, toward the European Defense Community is not so much the result of Communist influence in France as it is the apprehension of the French people that Germany might turn against them.

The French are living in the past.

There is nothing in the present situation to justify the position of the French people. With traditional French emotionalism, they are giving themselves over to something which no longer exists, something most unlikely to develop. It is difficult if not impossible to tell the Frenchman this with any hope of convincing him of the fact that whatever was no longer is. This is a new world with Western Europe bound together in common defense. If Russia is to be stopped short of gobbling up Western Europe, then all of its people must stand shoulder to shoulder in a common defense.

Too Long To Wait

Is the world growing warmer? Can we look forward to flowers blooming the year around in Nebraska?

Our benign winter and warm spring sent us to the new book written by Harlow Shapely, celebrated Harvard astronomer, "Climatic Change."

He didn't say for sure. But he did adduce a mass of meteorological data in favor of a balmy climate for Berlin, Germany. Severe winters, he showed, predominated there by 3 to 1 between 1770 and 1870. But mild winters set in then and continued by 35 to 1 until 1939. That sounds encouraging.

There is only one thing wrong. These climatic changes seem to be working over long ranges of time. It is nice to think of palm trees in Nebraska. But it is sad to realize that when and if that time comes none of our names will be figuring in the conversations of the day. We won't be able to wait that long.

Editorial Of The Day

(From The St. Louis Post Dispatch)

It is impossible to imagine the United States being thrown into an uproar because one city dropped its civil defense program. There is no American parallel for the indignation that is sweeping Britain over Coventry's abandonment of civil defense as useless against the H-bomb. But Americans should be as much concerned as Britishers about the state of the civil defense.

It is a popular fallacy to suppose that American cities are not in as much danger from air attack as English cities. A corollary fallacy is that some parts of the United States are less exposed than others. The Daily Plainsman, of Huron, S. D., devoting its entire editorial space to a discussion of "South Dakota and the H-bomb," said, "It is difficult to arouse much serious concern in South Dakota." Nevertheless, concludes The Plainsman, "It can't be said with any degree of certainty that one would be more safe in South Dakota than anywhere."

The notion that peril does not matter as long as it strikes the other fellow and not oneself is a dangerously foolish notion. South Dakota and Missouri and New York and Oregon are all in the same boat. So are the United States and Britain. So, in fact, is the entire planet. And the notion, exemplified in Coventry, that there is no sense in trying to survive if the odds seem unfavorable is another perilous piece of philosophy. This is a time for undefeatism, for a widening and deepening belief that whatever must be done can be done.

WASHINGTON—If the loyalty committee now probing J. Robert Oppenheimer probes deeply enough it will find that the admirals and generals had followed his advice in 1944, Russia would not now hold the Kurile islands, one-half of Sakhalin, and the southern end of the Manchurian peninsula.

Buried in the secret files of the Joint Chiefs of Staff are the debates between generals and admirals showing why they admitted Russia as a war partner in Asia; also why they were willing to give her important territorial concessions in return for Red army participation.

The reason was that the U.S. military did not have confidence in the atomic bomb.

They also figured it would take months, if not a year to subdue the Japanese military, so they wanted the Red army to be harassing Japan from the rear.

In vigorous disagreement was Robert Oppenheimer, now charged with having Communist ties. The new atomic weapon, he told his superiors, would end the war. Once the bomb was dropped, he argued, the war would be over. Neither Russian participation nor the force of the U.S. Army and

Demos To Study Adlai And Party's Revival

WASHINGTON—Congressional leaders will get all the best spots when the Democrats foregather here May 5 and 6 and the slogan will be, "Let's look at the record."

Adlai Stevenson will be master of ceremonies at the Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner where his talent for quips should be effective, but he will make no main address. It is hoped that Harry S. Truman will accept a roving reporter assignment, always on hand and sticking his head in and out of all the panel discussions. A retinue of real reporters could be expected to tag along in anticipation of those headline-making shots from the hip.

The question most often debated previously will still be: Is Stevenson already the inevitable Democratic candidate for President in 1956? While many Democrats want him, some do not and are quietly promoting various dark horses.

Look magazine has gone to the 48 Democratic senators for an answer. Asked if they thought Stevenson would be the candidate, 23 said yes, 15 said no. Asked if they wanted him at the head of their ticket, 25 senators said yes. The remaining 23 gave various replies as: "It's too early to say," "We may develop some new faces by then."

What was interesting about this poll in addition to the figures was its failure to develop a second opinion. This supports a widely held opinion that if the convention were held next month, it would be Stevenson on the first ballot.

Stevenson improved his standing in his Miami speech where, against the advice of some senators, he challenged the administration on McCarthy, the hydrogen bomb and Indo-China. The speech was badly delivered and led to some concern about his health. He has since had an illness and a kidney operation which was reported successful.

Nonetheless, he provoked discussion and action which are still a source of controversy in the Senate and not merely as between the parties but between the President and some of his leaders.

Three other polls recently have cheered up the Democrats.

The Minnesota poll of the Cowlies newspapers on the senate race showed 49 per cent for the incumbent Democrat, Hubert Humphrey, and 34 per cent for his challenger, State Treasurer Bjornson.

The Texas poll by Joe Belden, considered a reliable barometer, states that while 62 percent of Texans still like Ike, there is growing criticism which is unlikely to subside unless times get better. This is a loss to the President of 12 per cent since August, 1953.

The Denver Post reported this week that a Colorado poll shows fewer than one-half of the state's residents feel Eisenhower is doing a good job.

Democrats have a problem in Colorado where the wife of their tried and true vote-getter, Senator Ed Johnson, refuses to let him run again. Johnson's candidacy is believed to be Mayor Quigg Newton of Denver who will be introduced to the national audience at the May sessions here. (Copyright, 1954, By U.F. Syndicate, Inc.)

ARCH DONOVAN

In Step With The Sower

It has been all politics this week in the realm overlooked by the Sower.

While it has been far from love and kisses in the ranks of the Grand Old Party, the Sower (registered as a Democrat) was paid a prized tribute by the governor of this sovereign state. For the first time in his too many years, this great-grandfather was considered for high public office.

Gov. Robert Crosby, in discussing with his administrative assistant, James Deising, and the Sower his problem of having to appoint a successor to Sen. Dwight Griswold, turned to the Sower and remarked:

"And I'm giving you consideration." Then his voice faded off as he continued, "Very slight."

But a little consideration is better than none at all as is probably the case with many of those mentioned as "possibilities." It is fortunate the Sower has Deising as a witness.

Nevertheless, the Sower suffered a "Republican hot foot" from the heated political discussions taking place on the many floors below our perch atop the tower.

With the bulk of the employees "regulars" in the GOP party organization, they bristled considerably when "Terrible Terry" Carpenter tossed his name into the field of candidates seeking to wear the toga of the late Sen. Dwight Griswold.

It is fresh in their minds that Terry as a Democrat was elected to Congress in 1933. It was when the "New Deal" was in full swing. And to most of the party faithful the term, "New Deal" is usually preceded by adjectives of varying color depending upon the culture of the speaker.

As a member of the last session of the Legislature, Sen. Carpenter frequently pointed out to his colleagues that he is a "conservative." But in the ranks of his adopted party, they insist that he is a "radical."

Thus we presume that it is just retribution for deserting the party that honored him now to be assailed by the dogma of his new bedfellows, "guilt by association." After all, he spent two years as a member of what Sen. McCarthy terms "twenty years of treason."

And to think one of his new party members when told of his filing remarked, "No, no! One McCarthy in Congress is enough."

Thursday, the day after the funeral of Sen. Dwight Griswold, friends in the statehouse received letters signed by him which they insisted were in his own handwriting.

And a couple of unfeeling Democrats were heard to recall that one of the particular appeals made to women by Republicans in the last presidential campaign was that the GOP would restore twice-a-day delivery of mail which had been curtailed as an economy measure by Democrats.

"There is honor among thieves, but not among politicians," a statehouse visitor was heard to mumble after listening to a conversation in which stories were being told about favors one would do for another only to have the recipient of the favor turn against the grantor the minute he could gain personal advantage by so doing.

Present candidates for the seat in the U.S. Senate can turn back the pages in their memory books and probably recall some of the instances the visitor overheard being recited.

The Sower is just about ready to give up on believing in the sagacity of the presumably political-as-habits-of-capitol-corridors. Few, indeed, did we encounter regarding the political moves of Gov. Crosby during the past week.

In fact, most have been predicting, for several weeks that the Republican gubernatorial contest would be a "rat race" and the center of interest in the August primary. Now it appears that the emphasis has been shifted to the Senate race.

However, the filing date does not end until July so there is still time for the tempo to step up in both contests. Maybe the special session of the Legislature next week will stir up more ambitions.

The Life Of Christ

CHAPTER XXXX
Bishop Sheen has told of the birth of Christ in a manger, His death on the cross, the Resurrection and Ascension. Bishop Sheen writes that Christ has promised His disciples that they would follow Him to heaven. Today Bishop Sheen concludes his story of The Life of Christ.

The Ascension was necessary to equip His Apostolic Body for their universal mission. By withdrawing His bodily presence to that unseen region, which bears no special relation to any nation or people He proclaims in the Ascension the common destiny of all the adopted sons of God. Even the best of men would not feel at home in Heaven with all of its splendor unless they would find there, One Who was their brother in the Fatherhood of God. Joseph's brethren would have felt ill at ease in one of the most regal courts of the world, if their brother were not already there upon the throne. When He ascended into Heaven, He took with Himself His human nature like our own in all things, save sin. When He took upon Himself this human nature from His Mother Mary, He made it possible for Himself to suffer. She gave Him a body on which might be visited all the effects of sin, though He Himself was sinless. His birth and His life, therefore, made Him a victim for sacrifice and identified Him with the human race. The Ascension was necessary in order to bring Him into a state of perfect union with the Father, and in order to send the Spirit that we might be other Christs.

His continued life in Heaven, with His Glorified Humanity, is accepted by the Father on His Mercy Seat as our Intercessor. Once He offered Himself for us, the just for the unjust, whenever we identify ourselves with Him as victim, we behold in Him the expiation of our sins, and also our admission into the presence of the Father. All humanity is potentially with Him in Heaven after His Ascension, inasmuch as he is the new Adam or the Son of Man; the actualization of each human being as His brother or as an adopted son of the Heavenly Father, depends upon man's response to the Spirit. In Heaven, He lives to make intercession for us. In Him, all humanity will stand in such unity of love to the Father, that the Father will love all men as His sons; the Father will pour out upon all who will believe in Him, the same blessings that He once poured out upon him as the Head of humanity.

During His earthly life, He solicited us to avail ourselves of Redemption by seeing what sin cost. The evil of sin is the Crucifixion of the God-man. The worst thing that sin can do is not to bomb cities or kill children, but to crucify Goodness. No man is ever conscious of sin, when he merely thinks of it as breaking a law. He never really sees the full intensity of sin until he realizes what he does to a person. Many an alcoholic does not know the evil of his sin until, driving while drunk, he kills a child. So when we look not to a broken law, but at the broken Person of Christ on the Cross, we begin to see the full gravity of sin; we see it in the nails and in the crown of thorns, but we also see what is more, namely, the love of God who goes on loving us despite our sins.

"There is darkness over the world today because Christ is crucified."

Christ Chose Pain

On the Cross, Our Lord poured out His Life's Blood, not because bloodshed pleased His Father, but because the sinner deserved to die, and Christ, willing to be one with sinners, chose to bear pain as they should have borne it. He bore all of the iniquity of evil because He deigned to come into the world disorganized by evil.

If we would see the world at its worst, look at the Cross on Good Friday! The world will never do anything quite as evil as it did that day! There was darkness over the earth then, the sun refusing to shed its light on the crime that would extinguish the Light of the World!

There is darkness over the world today as there was then, and for the same reason, because Christ is crucified in those who believe and confess His Name. Giant curtains are pulled over the Light of the World: Iron Curtains, Bamboo Curtains, and Plush Curtains. Iron Curtains are pulled down in Eastern Europe where in Stygian night, hammers and sickles beat and cut. But a day will come when He will lay hold of that hammer, hold it aloft in His Resurrected, Scarred Hand, and make

It look like a Cross, and the sickle will appear as the moon under Our Lady's Feet. Bamboo curtains have been pulled over China, where in the night, missionaries are made "dry martyrs," ridiculed before other Pilates, slapped before other Caiaphases, and beaten in other Praetoria. But as hundreds of thousands of Chinese suffer and die in His Name, and in union with His Cross, they prepare a day when the sun will rise again in the East, and the sun will be the Light of the World! Plush curtains too, of American and Western civilization have been pulled over Christ, until we work in the murky mist of self-sufficiency, of plenty, of confused idealism and deflated morality.

His Blood Alone

What do we see written across the map of the world but blood! Soldiers' blood poured out on Korean rocks; martyrs' blood crimsoning Chinese earth; Jewish blood but recently dried from Nazi persecutions in Buchenwalds, and now dampened again by Christian blood in the Communist persecution; pagan blood poured charitably into blood banks to aid soldiers wounded in the bloody business of war. In the sight of all that blood, shall we not ask ourselves if God ever intended us to live in a world of constant hemorrhage?

We know the answer! Neither animal blood in sacrifice, nor human blood were meant to cataract and cascade over the globe. Christ's Blood alone paid the debt of our sins! It is because we invoke not the Blood of Christ that we shed one another's blood in war. When we lift the Iron and Bamboo and Plush Curtains and see His Death as Redemption, believe in Him as the Son of God Who made amends for our sins, then will this crimson scourge cease!

Easter, 1954
Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: There is much to think about during this Holy Week. I often wonder if the Lord should come next Easter Day. If He would find a welcome among the crowds no gay.

Barefooted, sad, and homeless. Still burdened with a cross. Looking back two thousand years To see no sals, but loss.

Church-going crowds in gay attire, Proclaiming wealth and ease. The outcast heaving for a crust From those on beaded knees.

A world enmeshed in bloody war, The brotherhood of man. A seeming joke: men born to kill. The Christian cloak, a sham.

Was it for this He bore the cross, Its torture ere He died. Two thousand years to wait in vain And still be crucified?

Senate Race
North Loup, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Gov. Crosby, Martin and Curtis are very weak candidates for the Senate race. So it seems certain that Terry Carpenter will win easily in the primary race.

State Chairman Martin drove the last nail in the Republican coffin when he selected the senator from Wisconsin as keynote for the Republican state convention. The way is now clear for a Democratic victory in Nebraska.

Additional Anxiety
Lincoln, Neb.

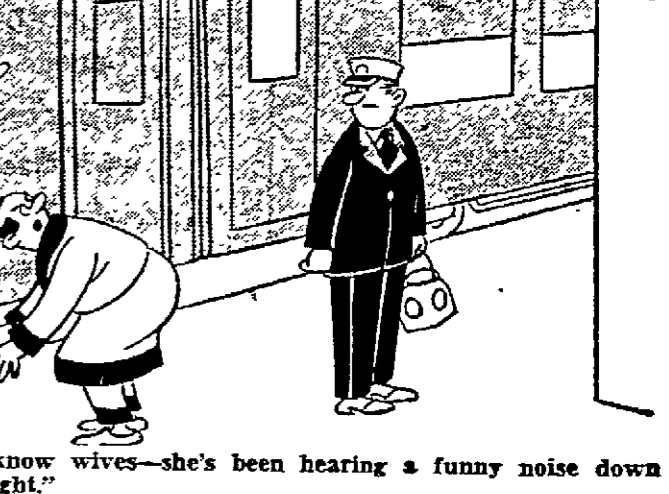

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: We have mentioned the probable future subversive activities of our squirrels in this city as a result of fluoridation. We have ample reason for additional anxiety. It is certain that our rats and mice have accomplished the same result as the squirrels, either by the same formula or by one equally efficient. They, too, have sound teeth, and make their living thereby, and have no social security.

The harder and sharper teeth that fluoridation will give them will enable these younger rats and mice to go through anything that stands in their way. No closet cupboard, chest, trunk, barrel, or bookcase will be able to offer the slightest resistance. The outlook is discouraging.

Why Not Protection?

A reader comes forward with a suggestion to protect the lives of members of Nebraska's Safety Patrol.

Recalling that twice in recent years members of the patrol have been shot and fatally wounded while performing their duties, this reader suggests that patrolmen equipped with bullet-proof vests stand a better chance against desperate men when participating in manhunts. The suggestion does have merit. No officer engaged in law-enforcement can be assured that the very real hazards involved in his calling can be eliminated.

But in the case of Patrolman Hansen, a bullet-proof jacket would have protected him and saved his life.

We expect our law-enforcement officers to be alert and vigilant at all times in stamping out lawlessness and violence. At very little cost, the inherent dangers which are a part of their duties can be and should be lessened as much as possible.

These Age-Old Hatreds

President Eisenhower's week-end statement designed to strengthen the sagging fortunes of EDC, we are told, was issued primarily to quiet French fears of a rearmament Western Germany.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

Gov. Crosby's appointment of Mrs. Arthur Bowring of Merriman to fill the vacancy created by the death of United States Sen. Dwight Griswold could have historic significance. She will be the first Nebraska woman to occupy a Senate seat, in fact in either the House or Senate. A staunch Republican in the party sense, deeply interested in politics since women came to enjoy the privilege of equal suffrage, charming, intelligent, most capable and forthright, no one could say that Mrs. Bowring did not deserve appointment. She earned this recognition and her friends will rejoice with her that it has come to her.

The historic significance of Mrs. Bowring's appointment, however, may not be limited to the fact that she is the first Nebraska woman chosen to take a place in the world's most outstanding parliamentary body. If the Benson farm program comes to a vote before Congress winds up its session, it appears that the head of the Department of Agriculture may gain a genuine, honest recruit. We could be wrong but we have the feeling that Dwight Griswold would not have gone for the Benson program of flexible price supports. Though most of his life had been spent in the heart of Nebraska's ranching country, and on the basis of association, Sen. Griswold could have been identified with the recognized livestock view on the support program, he knew the state and its agriculture far too well to nurse any illusions about the present farm controversy. As recently as less than two weeks ago, Mrs. Bowring, attending a Washington conference with a group of Nebraska women, put herself on record, if she was quoted correctly.

Supports Secretary Benson?

John Jarrell, of the Omaha World Herald, had her as saying that, in her judgment, "Secretary Benson stands pretty well with Nebraska farmers. They," she added, "realize that you can't pull pie out of the sky." Yet thousands of Nebraska wheat growers have expressed themselves overwhelmingly in favor of the present program whenever the issue came to a referendum. The last referendum of the wheat growers saw the present price support plan endorsed by more than 85 per cent of all those participating. And we doubt seriously that the majority of Nebraska corn growers, realizing that lower prices for corn at present costs of production mean reduced income for them, look upon the Benson plan of flexible supports with overflowing happiness and rejoicing.

Mrs. Bowring operates a ranch at Merriman, a fine ranch, where she raises Hereford cattle. Her herd is of blooded stock, she is an extremely competent operator. The words Mr. Jarrell used in quoting her fall far short of revealing her sound knowledge of one branch of agriculture. Chances are that there are enough Republicans in both the House and the Senate to stymie Secretary Benson's determined, resolute attitude on agriculture. That was evident in House action earlier in the week when the House insisted on voting more money than Secretary Benson had requested and in sharply criticizing him for not utilizing all the funds Congress had directed should be expended for certain activities. In the Senate, Republican Sen. Milton R. Young of North Dakota, secretary of the Republican Policy Committee, has been the spokesman for a Republican group caustically critical of Secretary Benson. But the vote could be close, especially if the White House chooses to make a last-ditch fight for Mr. Benson's plan of flexible price supports, so close that a single vote could determine it. And if, as Mr. Benson darkly hints, President Eisenhower should veto any measure extending the present farm program to continue supports at 90 per cent of parity, then one single vote assumes greater importance.

We have known Mrs. Bowring for years and have only the greatest respect for her. We do not believe there is anything in the skies today which justifies Secretary Benson's program. Surely the present uncertainties cry out against it. Already drought in some of the chief wheat-producing states establishes that the harvest for 1954 will be short. Mr. Benson may discover that unfavorable conditions in some of the principal wheat-and-corn-producing states of the Union will go a long way towards solving the problem of surpluses which seem to cause him so much apprehension. If conditions abroad are one-half as bad as presently pictured, with Secretary Dulles frantically seeking a solution, we may be thankful for these surplus stocks of wheat and corn and other farm items. Not to criticize Mrs. Bowring, this paper cannot bring itself to believe that the Benson farm program is in the interest of the rural peoples of Nebraska. And she may have had that in mind when she told reporters that while generally she would follow administration policies, she would reserve the right to exercise her own, independent judgment. That is a fine spirit with which to enter upon her duties.

Should The Vote Be Close

It is impossible to imagine the United States being thrown into an uproar because one city dropped its civil defense program. There is no American parallel for the indignation that is sweeping Britain over Coventry's abandonment of civil defense as useless against the H-bomb. But Americans should be as much concerned as Britons about the state of the civil defense.

It is a popular fallacy to suppose that American cities are not in as much danger from air attack as English cities. A corollary fallacy is that some parts of the United States are less exposed than others. The Daily Plainsman, of Huron, S. D., devoting its entire editorial space to a discussion of "South Dakota and the H-bomb," said, "It is difficult to arouse much serious concern in South Dakota." Nevertheless, concludes The Plainsman, "It can't be said with any degree of certainty that one would be more safe in South Dakota than anywhere."

The notion that peril does not matter as long as it strikes the other fellow and not oneself is a dangerously foolish notion. South Dakota and Missouri and New York and Oregon are all in the same boat. So are the United States and Britain. So, in fact, is the entire planet. And the notion, exemplified in Coventry, that there is no sense in trying to survive if the odds seem unfavorable is another perilous piece of philosophy. This is a time for undefeatism, for a widening and deepening belief that whatever must be done can be done.

Oppenheimer Advice Ignored By Military

WASHINGTON—If the loyalty committee now probing J. Robert Oppenheimer probes deeply enough it will find that the admiral and general had followed his advice in 1944, Russia would not now hold the Kurile islands, one-half of Sakhalin, and the southern end of the Manchurian peninsula.

Buried in the secret files of the Joint Chiefs of Staff are the debates between generals and admirals showing why they admitted Russia as a war partner in Asia; also why they were willing to give her important territorial concessions in return for Red army participation.

The reason was that the U.S. military did not have confidence in the atomic bomb.

They figured it would take months, if not a year to subdue the Japanese military, so they wanted the Red army to be harassing Japan from the rear.

In vigorous disagreement was Robert Oppenheimer, now charged with having Communist ties. The new atomic weapon, he told his superiors, would end the war. The bomb was dropped, he argued, the war would be over. Neither Russian participation nor the force of the U.S. Army and Navy would be needed.

But hardheaded Adm. William Leahy, Gen. George Marshall, and Gen. Leslie Groves wouldn't believe him. So the United States proceeded to hand Russia important territory in Asia to get the Red Army's help.

One week after Hiroshima and Nagasaki, however, the emperor of Japan asked for peace. Oppenheimer was right. History might have been different had his advice been followed.

Demos To Study Adlai And Party's Revival

WASHINGTON—Congressional leaders will get all the best spots when the Democrats foregather here May 5 and 6 and the slogan will be, "Let's look at the record."

Adlai Stevenson will be master of ceremonies at the Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner where his talent for quips should be effective, but he will make no main address. It is hoped that Harry S. Truman will accept a roving reporter assignment, always on hand and sticking his head in and out of all the panel discussions. A retinue of real reporters could be expected to tag along in anticipation of those headline-making shots from the hip.

The question most often debated privately will still be: Is Stevenson already the inevitable Democratic candidate for President in 1956? While many Democrats want him, some do not and are quietly promoting various dark horses.

Look magazine has gone to the 48 Democratic senators for an answer. Asked if they thought Stevenson would be the candidate, 33 said yes, 15 said no. Asked if they wanted him at the head of their ticket, 25 senators said yes. The remaining 23 gave various replies as: "It's too early to say." "We may develop some new faces by then."

What is interesting about this poll in addition to the figures was its failure to develop a second opinion. This supports a widely held opinion that if the convention were held next month, it would be Stevenson on the first ballot.

Stevenson improved his standing in his Miami speech where, against the advice of some senators, he challenged the administration on McCarthy, the hydrogen bomb and Indo-China. The speech was badly delivered and led to some concern about his health. He has since had an illness and a kidney operation which was reported successful.

Nonetheless, he provoked discussion and action which are still a source of controversy in the Senate and not merely as between the parties but between the President and some of his leaders.

Three other polls recently have cheered up the Democrats. The Minnesota poll of the Cowles newspapers on the senate race showed 49 per cent for the incumbent Democrat, Hubert H. Humphrey, and 47 per cent for his challenger, State Treasurer Bjornson.

The Texas poll by Joe Belden, considered a reliable barometer, states that while 62 percent of Texans still like Ike, there is growing criticism which is unlikely to subside unless times get better. This is a loss to the President of 12 per cent since August, 1953.

The Denver Post reported this week that a Colorado poll shows fewer than one-half of the state's residents feel Eisenhower is doing a good job.

Democrats have a problem in Colorado where the wife of their tried and true vote-getter, Senator Ed Johnson, refuses to let him run again. Johnson's candidate is believed to be Mayor Quigg Newton of Denver who will be introduced to the national audience at the May sessions here.

ARCH DONOVAN

In Step With The Sower

It has been all politics this week in the realm overlooked by the Sower.

While it has been far from love and kisses in the ranks of the Grand Old Party, the Sower (registered as a Democrat) was paid a prize by the governor of this sovereign state. For the first time in his too many years, this great-grandfather was considered for high public office.

Gov. Robert Crosby, in discussing with his administrative assistant, James Deising, and the Sower his problem of having to appoint a successor to Sen. Dwight Griswold, turned to the Sower and remarked:

"And I'm giving you consideration." Then his voice faded off as he continued, "Very slight."

But a little consideration is better than none at all as is probably the case with many of those mentioned as "possibilities." It is fortunate the Sower has Deising as a witness.

Nevertheless, the Sower suffered a "Republican hot foot" from the heated political discussions taking place on the many floors below our perch atop the tower.

With the bulk of the employees "regulars" in the GOP party organization, they bristled considerably when "Terrible Terry" Carpenter tossed his name into the field of candidates seeking to wear the toga of the late Sen. Dwight Griswold.

It is fresh in their minds that Terry as a Democrat was elected to Congress in 1933. It was when the "New Deal" was in full sway. And to most of the party faithful the term, "New Deal," is usually preceded by adjectives of varying color depending upon the culture of the speaker.

As a member of the last session of the Legislature, Sen. Carpenter frequently pointed out to his colleagues that he is a "conservative." But in the ranks of his adopted party, they insist that he is a "radical."

Thus we presume that it is just retribution for deserting the party that honored him now to be assailed by the dogma of his new bedfellows, "guilt by association." After all, he spent two years as a member of what Sen. McCarthy terms "twenty years of treason."

And to think one of his new party members when told of his filing remarked, "No, no! One McCarthy in Congress is enough."

Thursday, the day after the funeral of Sen. Dwight Griswold, friends in the statehouse received letters signed by him which they insisted were in his own handwriting.

And a couple of unfeeling Democrats were heard to recall that one of the particular appeals made to women by Republicans in the last presidential campaign was that the GOP would restore twice-a-day delivery of mail which had been curtailed as an economy measure by Democrats.

"There is honor among thieves, but not among politicians," a statehouse visitor was heard to mumble after listening to a conversation in which stories were being told about favors one would do for another only to have the recipient of the favor turn against the grantor the minute he could gain personal advantage by so doing.

Present candidates for the seat in the U.S. Senate can turn back the pages in their memory books and probably recall some of the instances the visitor overheard being recited.

The Sower is just about ready to give up on believing in the sagacity of the presumably political-wise habits of capitol corridors. Few, indeed, did we encounter who now say, "I told you so," regarding the political moves of Gov. Crosby during the past week.

In fact, most have been predicting, for several weeks that the Republican gubernatorial contest would be a "rat race" and the center of interest in the August primary. Now it appears that the emphasis has been shifted to the Senate race.

However, the filing date does not end until July so there is still time for the tempo to step up in both contests. Maybe the special session of the Legislature next week will stir up more ambitions.

BISHOP FULTON J. SHEEN

The Life Of Christ

CHAPTER XXX

Bishop Sheen has told of the birth of Christ in a manger, His death on the cross, the Resurrection and Ascension. Bishop Sheen writes that Christ has promised His disciples that they would follow Him to heaven. Today Bishop Sheen concludes his story of The Life of Christ.

The Ascension was necessary to equip His Apostolic Body for their universal mission. By withdrawing His bodily presence to that unseen region, which bears no special relation to any nation or people He proclaims in the Ascension the common destiny of all the adopted sons of God. Even the best of men would not feel at home in Heaven with all of its splendor unless they would find there, One Who was their brother in the Fatherhood of God. Joseph's brethren would have felt ill at ease in one of the most regal courts of the world, if their brother were not already there upon the throne. When He ascended into Heaven, He took with Himself His human nature like our own in all things, save sin. When He took upon Himself this human nature from His Mother Mary, He made it possible for Himself to suffer. She gave Him a body on which might be visited all the effects of sin, though He Himself was sinless. His birth and His life, therefore, made Him a victim for sacrifice and identified Him with the human race. The Ascension was necessary in order to bring Him into a state of perfect union with the Father, and in order to send the Spirit that we might be other Christs.

His Life Continues
His continued life in Heaven, with His Glorified Humanity, is accepted by the Father on His Mercy Seat as our Intercessor. Once He offered Himself for us, the just for the unjust, whenever we identify ourselves with Him as victim, we behold in Him the expiation of our sins, and also our admission into the presence of the Father. All humanity is potentially with Him in Heaven after His Ascension, inasmuch as he is the new Adam or the Son of Man; the actualization of each human being as His brother or as an adopted son of the Heavenly Father, depends upon man's response to the Spirit. In Heaven, He lives to make intercession for us. In Him, all humanity will stand in such unity of love to the Father, that the Father will love all men as His sons; the Father will pour out upon all who will believe in Him, the same blessings that He once poured out upon him as the Head of humanity.

During His earthly life, He solicited us to avail ourselves of Redemption by seeing what sin cost. The evil of sin is the Crucifixion of the God-man. The worst thing that sin can do

Easter, 1954

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: There is much to think about during this Holy Week.

I often wonder if the Lord should come next Easter Day. If He would find a welcome among the crowds so gay.

Rarefooted, sad, and homeless,
Still burdened with a cross,
Looking back two thousand years
To see no gain, but loss.

Church-going crowds in gay attire,
Proclaiming wealth and ease,
The outcast heaving for a crust
From those on bended knees.

A world engaged in bloody war,
The brotherhood of man,
A seeming joke: men born to kill,
The Christian cloak, a sham.

Was it for this He bore the cross,
His torture as He died,
Two thousand years to wait in vain
And still be crucified?

Senate Race

North Loup, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Gov. Crosby, Martin and Curtis are very weak candidates for the Senate race. So it seems certain that Terry Carpenter will win easily in the primary race.

State Chairman Martin drove the last nail in the Republican coffin when he selected the senator from Wisconsin as keynote for the Republican state convention. The way is now clear for a Democratic victory in Nebraska.

Additional Anxiety

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: We have mentioned the probable future subversive activities of our squirrels in this city as a result of fluoridation. We have ample reason for additional anxiety. It is certain that our rats and mice have accomplished the same result as the squirrels, either by the same formula or by one equally efficient. They, too, have sound teeth, and make their living thereby, and have no social security.

The harder and sharper teeth that fluoridation will give them will enable these younger rats and mice to go through anything that stands in their way. No closet, cupboard, chest, trunk, barrel, or bookcase will be able to offer the slightest resistance. The outlook is discouraging.

W. HARRIS

"There is darkness over the world today because Christ is recrucified . . ."

Is not to bomb cities or kill children, but to crucify Goodness. No man is ever conscious of sin, when he merely thinks of it as breaking a law. He never really sees the full intensity of sin until he realizes what he does to a person. Many an alcoholic does not know the evil of his sin until, driving while drunk, he kills a child. So when we look not to a broken law, but at the broken Person of Christ on the Cross, we begin to see the full gravity of sin; we see it in the nails and in the crown of thorns, but we also see what is more, namely, the love of God who goes on loving us despite our sins.

Christ Chose Pain

Poured out His Blood, not because bloodshed pleased His Father, but because the sinner deserved to die, and Christ, willing to be one with sinners, chose to bear pain as they should have borne it. He bore all of the iniquity of evil because He deigned to come into the world disorganized by evil.

If we would see the world at its worst, look at the Cross on Good Friday! The world will never do anything quite as evil as it did that day! There was darkness over the earth then, the sun refusing to shed its light on the crime that would extinguish the Light of the World!

There is darkness over the world today as there was then, and for the same reason, because Christ is recrucified in those who believe and confess His Name. Giant curtains are pulled over the Light of the World: Iron Curtains, Bamboo Curtains, and Plush Curtains. Iron Curtains are pulled down in Eastern Europe where in Stygian night, hammers and sickles beat and cut. But a day will come when He will lay hold of that hammer, hold it aloft in His Resurrected, Scarred Hand, and make it look like a Cross, and the sickle will appear as the moon under Our Lady's Feet. Bamboo curtains have been pulled over China, where in the night, missionaries are made "dry martyrs," ridiculed before other Christians, slapped before other Praetoria. But as hundreds of thousands of Chinese suffer and die in His Name, and in union with His Cross, they prepare a day when the sun will rise again in the East, and the sun will be the Light of the World! Plush curtains too, of American and Western civilization have been pulled over Christ, until we work in the murky mist of self-sufficiency, of plenty, of confused idealism and deflated morality.

His Blood Alone

What do we see written across the map of the world but blood! Soldiers' blood poured out on Korean rocks; martyrs' blood crimsoning Chinese earth; Jewish blood but recently dried from Nazi persecutions in Buchenwalds, and now dampened again by Christian blood in the Communist persecution; pagan blood poured charitably into blood banks to aid soldiers wounded in the bloody business of war. In the sight of all that blood, shall we not ask ourselves if God ever intended us to live in a world of constant hemorrhage?

We know the answer! Neither animal blood in sacrifice, nor human blood were meant to cataract and cascade over the globe. Christ's Blood alone paid the debt of our sins! It is because we invoke not the Blood of Christ that we shed one another's blood in war. When we lift the Iron and Bamboo and Plush Curtains and see His Death as Redemption, believe in Him as the Son of God Who made amends for our sins, then will this crimson scourge cease!

Cancelling School Land Leases OKd Supreme Court Confirms Action

An action canceling two school land leases granted under an unconstitutional law has been confirmed by the State Supreme Court.

The action was taken by the State Board of Educational Lands and Funds against Elmer Clark of Brown County and Roger Gillett of Sioux County. The Court said that in both cases school land leases must be surrendered.

The Court's decisions were a continuation of actions arising from a 1949 decision in which the Court ruled that a 1947 Legislative law allowing leaseholders of school lands to automatically renew their leases was unconstitutional.

Actions Brought
At that time the Supreme Court said leases must be put up for public auction every 12 years and ruled that leases granted under the 1947 law were null and void.

Forcible entry and detainer actions were brought against Clark and Gillett when they refused to give up their leases even though they were not high bidders at the auctions ordered by the state board.

The Supreme Court reversed the action of the Brown District Court which found for Clark. A Sioux County District Court ruling against Gillett was affirmed by the high court.

As a result of the decisions, the leases must be given to the persons who were high bidders at the auctions on the leases.

'No Rights Conferred'
In the Gillett case the Court said:

"An unconstitutional act is not a law; it confers no rights; it imposes no duties; it affords no protection; it creates no office; it is, in legal contemplation, as imperatively as though it had never been passed. . . . An interpretation given to a statutory or constitutional provision by the court of last resort becomes a standard to be applied in all cases, and is binding upon all department of government including the Legislature." The Court said that the principles announced in the Gillett cases were applicable and controlled disposition of the appeal in the Clark case.

In the Gillett case the Court said:

"An unconstitutional act is not a law; it confers no rights; it imposes no duties; it affords no protection; it creates no office; it is, in legal contemplation, as inoperative as though it had never been passed. An interpretation given to a statutory or constitutional provision by the court of last resort becomes a standard to be applied in all cases, and is binding upon all department of government including the Legislature."

The Court said that the principles announced in the Gillett case were applicable and controlled disposition of the appeal in the Clark case.

Woman, 103, Dies At Belden

BELDEN, Neb. (AP)—Funeral services for Mrs. Johanna Koster, 103-year-old Belden resident will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday at the Lutheran Church at Plattville, Wis.

Mrs. Koster died following a short illness.

Born in Holstein, Germany, March 19, 1851, she came to the United States in 1885 with her husband, Henning Koster, and settled at Plattville.

They moved to East Moline, Ill., in 1910 and Koster died there in 1916.

Mrs. Koster moved to Belden three years ago and had been living with a daughter, Mrs. Minnie Wisco.

Other survivors include two sons: William of Ft. Bryon, Ill., and Richard of Oakland, Calif., and four other daughters, Mrs. Marie Findley and Mrs. Helen Bartling of East Moline; Mrs. Mollie Stocks of Plattville and Mrs. Ella Stison of San Diego, Calif.

AT THE CROSSROADS OF LINCOLN

A Favorite Hat Is a "Must" in the Easter Parade

Time was when the populace wore its beaver hats and fur caps right up to the moment Easter dawned and brought with it a great show of new millinery—both for the masculine element and the distaff side—But now the first breath of spring wafts over the chapeaux department as soon as Christmas is tucked snugly in its bed for another year, and the Easter parade has aligned itself more with the favorite—rather than the new—hat. At the extreme left we find three young Bartons—Alfred P. Jr. (Ridgie, for short) Peter, the smallest of the three, and David (right) sporting some very fancy head gear—The caps, all alike, may not be exactly what the well dressed young men about town will wear in the Easter parade, but they are the favored hats of these three young gents who, we hear, certainly plan to wear them on Easter Sunday.

When Mrs. Walter Henrion and her daughter, Sheila, start out in their flower-trimmed hats for early mass at Blessed Sacrament Church on Easter morning—Sheila will be wearing the halo of white daisies you see in the picture, and her mother's brown straw is bedecked with a single yellow rose, sparkling with brilliants.

than meets the eye in the picture—they sparkle with rhinestones. We're entranced, too, with the chair in which Mrs. Edmiston posed for her picture—It's beautiful, and belonged to Mrs. Edmiston's grandmother.

That sweet young thing at the extreme right has been in her mother's hat box, and would gladly exchange her own Easter bonnet for any of her mother's—She is particularly fond of the one she is wearing at the moment, and we're sure she must know she makes a very pleasing picture. Our fashion-conscious young friend is Miss Kathy Hunt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hunt.

Club Plans Activities

At the regular business meeting of the Soroptimist Club of Lincoln, Wednesday evening at the Hotel Cornhusker, Mrs. C. M. Stewart, president, appointed Mrs. Jo Jensen Bonebright chairman of the nominating committee to select officer-candidates for the club's annual election, to be held May 12. Members of Mrs. Bonebright's committee will be Miss Anna M. Evans and Mrs. L. L. Corryell, Jr.

Mrs. Eula M. Terhune and Mrs. E. W. Johnson were named USO hostesses for the month, and attending the monthly Inter-Safety luncheon April 21 will be Mrs. Oliver T. Joy and Miss Ruth Hovland.

Club delegates to the YWCA public affairs luncheon on April 23 will be Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. Forest Wilson, Miss Clara Aronson, Mrs. Blanche M. Clouse, Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Bonebright. The group voted to continue its current project on bicycle safety, and announcement was made of the radio program on, "Adult Driver Training," to be broadcast Saturday morning, April 24, in which Mrs. Julian S. Lyons, Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Terhune will participate.

Antique Show Is Scheduled

To raise funds for its project of supporting and operating the community library, the Bennet Federated Woman's Club will hold an antique and hobby show the afternoon and evening of April 27, at the Bennet Community Church.

Both exhibitors and visitors from Lincoln and nearby communities as well as Bennet are invited to the show which will have as its theme the Nebraska centennial. Displays will include antique glass, china, pewter, pictures, books, jewelry and clothing, and special booths pertaining to early Bennet history and for articles over one hundred years old will be featured.

There will be hobby classes for both adults and children, and exhibitors are asked to bring displays the morning of April 27 for arrangement and judging before the show opens at 1 o'clock. No admission will be charged, but refreshments will be sold during the show.

To Celebrate Anniversary

In celebration of their 25th wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Uher will hold open house between the hours of 3 o'clock and 5 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, and from 7 o'clock until 9 o'clock Saturday evening at their home, 738 So. 28th Street. The members also donated to the cancer fund.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Mary Larson, 5409 Saylor.

TOWN TALK

TOWN TALK involves numerous subjects this morning—guests—brides-to-be—and courtesies for both guests and brides—Hear that Mr. and Mrs. Tom Yates (Jane Traphagen), will be arriving from New York on Monday, April 26, to spend a few days as the house guests of Mrs. Yates' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vance Traphagen—

AND we just learned that Miss Emily Krisl of Fresno, Calif., formerly of Lincoln, has arrived to spend two or three weeks visiting old Lincoln friends. During her stay here Miss Krisl will make Hotel Cornhusker her headquarters.

ON the guest list this week are Mrs. Glenn Claybaugh and her young son, Lloyd, of Evansville, Ind., who are the guests of Mrs. Claybaugh's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Graham, and Mr. Claybaugh's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Claybaugh.

Complimenting Mrs. Claybaugh a group of her friends entertained at a brunch on Thursday at the home of Mrs. Russell Loerch.

IT would seem that Miss Shirley Sidles, who arrives from Denver on Saturday, April 24—and whose marriage to Thomas Bowman of Denver will take place in early summer—will scarcely have time to take off her hat before her prenuptial courtesies begin.

A week from Sunday Miss Sidles is to be complimented when Miss Ruth Jewett and her mother, Mrs. Grey R. Jewett, will be hostesses at an 11 o'clock coffee at their home.

SPEAKING of Miss Jewett, whose marriage to John T. Small takes place on May 1—we learned that she is to be the incentive for a luncheon today at the University Club for which Mrs. Charles Mohrman (Mary Hubka) of Omaha will be hostess.

Miss Jewett's sister, Mrs. Robert Birkhoff of Knoxville, Tenn., who is to be her matron of honor, will arrive on Monday, April 26.

ON the list of exceedingly busy April brides-elect is Miss Dorris Newman whose marriage to Robert W. Kinsey will take place on Saturday afternoon, April 24, at the Church of the Holy Trinity, Episcopal. The ceremony will be followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents.

Miss Newman and her fiancé will share honors on Saturday evening when Mr. Kinsey's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wythers, entertain at a family dinner at the University club.

And on Friday evening, April 23, Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Newman will compliment their daughter and Mr. Kinsey when they preside at dinner at the University club after the wedding rehearsal.

Out of town guests at the dinner will include the bride's aunt, Mrs. Wallace Miller, and her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Shaver, all of Harvey, N.D.; Dr. and Mrs. George Westgate, uncle and aunt of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Eugene L. Argo, all of Kansas City.

BSP Holds Installation

Mrs. Russell Chesnut presided at the April meeting of Alpha Rho chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Art Glantz. New members were initiated and include Mrs. Larry Gude, Mrs. Bob Karnopp, Mrs. Charles Palmer and Mrs. Frank Kramer.

An installation was held for the following new officers: Mrs. Don Johnson, president; Mrs. Clyde Zimmerman, vice president; Mrs. Bob Stroh, treasurer; and Mrs. Larry Gude, secretary.

Following the business meeting, when plans were discussed for a Mothers' Tea on May 9, Mrs. Chesnut assisted Mrs. Glantz as hostess during the social hour.

ADVERTISEMENT The Hope for Hopeless Hair

A RESTOR TREATMENT is just what the name implies, it restores hair to a normal condition, for the many ills of hair, excessive dryness, split ends or damage from improper treatment. It is the quick restoration with the help of keratin, a protein found in normal hair which is often lost when the hair is abused or neglected for a month or two.

RESTOR is a solution of elements for hair designed to penetrate the hair shaft and remain there to revive, strengthen and add weight to limp, dull, scanty, bleached, drab and dyed hair. It will definitely change the appearance with just a single treatment to a more natural look and will make it feel like new grown hair, resulting in a defined and lustrous appearance. more satisfactory permanent waves and will prevent fading in tinted hair.

Report Of Gambling By FHA Official Touched Off Probe—Cole

... Half Annual Salary Lost One Night

WASHINGTON (AP)—Reports of gambling by a key official of the Federal Housing Administration helped touch off the investigation of the scandal-jolted agency, Housing Chief Albert M. Cole disclosed Friday night.

The Washington Post and Times-Herald said the FBI received a report that this unnamed official lost as much as $5,000 in a single night at the gaming table. This would be about half his annual salary.

Cole said he had no knowledge of a $5,000 loss, but added: "I do know one official is known in some circles to be a gambler. He is in a responsible position. I had his situation in mind when I began the investigation."

Inflated Loans

Cole announced Friday night he has uncovered evidence of "incredible" official laxity. The charges are that householder loans were made by high pressure home-repair salesmen and that some apartment builders reaped a multi-million dollar harvest by means of inflated, government-guaranteed construction loans.

Cole continued to shake up the top echelon of FHA, and called Justice Department, FBI and other officials to a conference Saturday looking toward possible criminal prosecutions.

President Eisenhower directed all federal agencies to co-operate fully in the investigation.

Cole announced that Burton C. Bovard had refused to resign as general counsel of FHA at Cole's request and "has been placed on leave."

There was no indication, however, that he was the official linked to the reports of gambling.

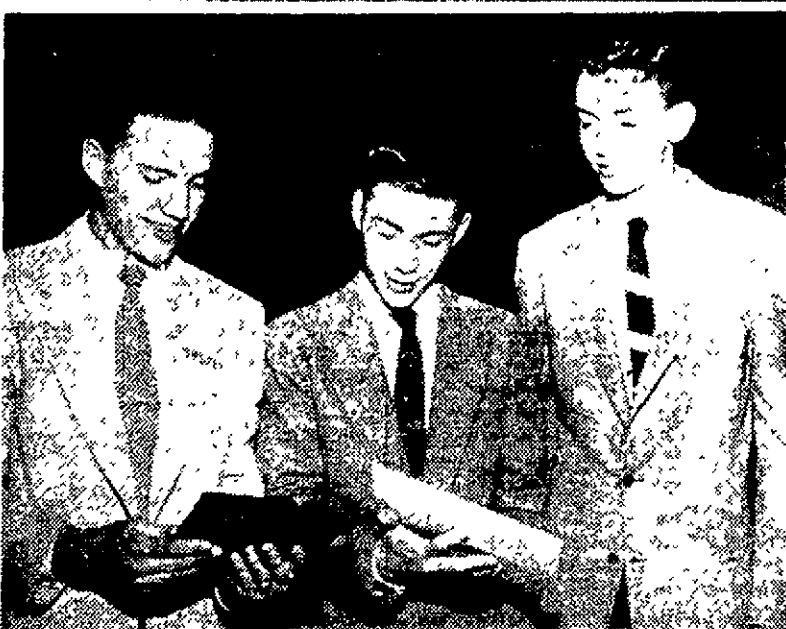

Prosecution

In telling of his crackdown actions to date, Cole said: "In the next few days we will make such other removals as are necessary to insure a free, swift, uninhibited investigation of all relevant FHA matters," Cole said, adding: "I expect in a fairly short time, with the vigorous co-operation that we are receiving from the Department of Justice and the Bureau of Internal Revenue, to develop cases possibly leading to prosecution and to take any additional steps needed for full administrative cleanup in the FHA that I have been undertaking."

Eisenhower's directive, issued from his Augusta, Ga. vacation headquarters, called on all government agencies including the FBI to co-operate with congressional investigations as well as to assist in the housing agency's own probe.

Sen. Byrd (D-Va.), chairman of the Senate-House Committee on Reduction of Non-Essential Expenditures which has been looking into the housing situation since last July, charged Wednesday that his committee had been "denied the facts" by government agencies concerned.

Byrd, who has scheduled public hearings to start Tuesday, said he would insist on Cole appearing before his committee under oath and supplying the information sought.

Three Top Teen-Age County Drivers

Robert Crosby at the governor's first annual Youth Safety Conference Banquet at the Chamber of Commerce. MUNDT SET TO START HEARINGS NEXT THURSDAY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Mundt (R-S.D.) said nothing short of a plea of illness by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) will be allowed to interfere with the scheduled start on Thursday of public hearings in the McCarthy-Army row.

McCarthy was reported planning to fly back to Washington from Texas Saturday for conferences with his Senate Investigations Subcommittee on his participation in the televised hearings.

Mundt, who will replace McCarthy as subcommittee chairman for the duration of the inquiry, told reporters he sees nothing in recent developments to justify a postponement, and said: "The Thursday opening depends entirely on Joe's (McCarthy's) health. Only his being ill could put it off."

Mundt also announced he has "suggested" a plan by which he hopes to induce Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) to refrain from claiming the right to question witnesses in the Senate's televised investigation of the McCarthy-Army row.

Lincoln-Nebraska City Bus Service Resumed

Bus service between Lincoln and Nebraska City via Highway 2 started again Friday after an absence of about six months.

The Nebraska City Lincoln Line, as the new service is called, is owned by G. L. Thompson and H. E. Hart, both of Nebraska City.

Gov. Crosby and Doris Anderson of South Sioux City, University of Nebraska freshman, were speakers at the banquet Friday evening at the Chamber of Commerce.

The 160 persons attending the conference from all over the state will have group sessions

Jim Zimmer Is 'Best Driver' In County Teen-Age Road-E-O

Jim Zimmer, 17, of 1527 So. 20th, was the "best driver" in the Lancaster County Teen-Age Road-E-O, sponsored by the Lincoln Jaycees.

The Cathedral High student racked up 414 points, including a 92-score on a written test, to lead the field of 19 contestants.

The driving contest was held Friday afternoon on the University of Nebraska campus, and qualifies winners to compete in a later state contest, leading to the National Teen-Age Road-E-O.

County contest runner-up was James R. Hutchins, 17, 5202 Adams, with a score of 390, including a written test score of 90. Other place winners were Bill Bancroft, 15, 1010 So. 34th, scoring 374 points, and Jim Slocum, 16, 3900 Sheridan Blvd., with 371 points.

Best girl driver was Lavonna Benzing, 17, 810 So. 31st, who scored 342 points.

Scoring was done on four driving "exercises"—a straight, a serpentine, parallel parking, and stopping smoothly.

Contest Judges were Police Sgt. R. J. McMeen, Earl TeSelle, Robert Weiderspan, and Dep. Sheriff Mark Meyers. Assistants to the judges were Lincoln Jaycees. Recorder was Lloyd Jenkins, safety coordinator, Lincoln Public Schools.

The three top contestants, Zimmer, Hutchins, and Bancroft, received their driving awards at the governor's first Youth Safety Congress banquet.

Gov. Crosby and Doris Anderson of South Sioux City, University of Nebraska freshman, were speakers at the banquet Friday evening at the Chamber of Commerce.

The 160 persons attending the conference from all over the state will have group sessions and then a general session at the capitol Saturday morning.

Amos Neyhart, head of the Institute of Public Safety for Pennsylvania State College, will be speaker for the closing session.

M. R. Darlington Jr., Washington, D.C., managing director of the Inter-Industry Highway Safety Committee, gave the opening address Friday.

Mrs. Paul Stewart Funeral In Omaha

Funeral services for Mrs. Paul H. Stewart, former Lincoln resident, will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday at Fitch and Cole Memorial Chapel in Omaha. Burial will be at Evergreen Cemetery in Omaha.

Mrs. Stewart, a Lincoln resident from about 1920 to 1938, died Thursday in Omaha. Her husband served as an extension agronomist for the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture when they were in Lincoln.

Surviving are her husband; three daughters, Mrs. Elizabeth Sutton of Beatrice, Mrs. Margery Butler of Clarinda, Ia., and Ruth of San Francisco, Calif.; one son, Richard P. of Washington, Ill.; one brother, Fred Muller of Kearney; and two sisters, Mrs. John Barry of Blair and Mrs. E. H. Fehrenkrog of Hinsdale, Ill.

Advertising Good

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Knoxville's bootleggers have found advertising doesn't pay. Small, yellow cards listing a telephone number and "pints, $3.50"—80 cents under the going rate were left on many doorsteps. Police tried the number, and charged the delivery boy with selling whisky in this legally dry city.

Easter Ham the SOLO way!

SOLO APRICOT or SOLO RUMRAISIN FILLING

The OLD WAY to prepare a baked ham was to coat it with brown sugar, mustard, stick full of cloves and perhaps a slice of pineapple.

The "NEW WAY" and the "SOLO" way is very simple and the resulting flavor will astonish you.

1. Wash and prepare ham for the pan as you usually do.
2. Spread a heavy even layer of SOLO APRICOT or SOLO RUMRAISIN FILLING over the top and sides. If you wish you can decorate with a few maraschino cherries.
3. Place in a moderate oven (350° F.) and bake 10 to 15 minutes per pound of ham. When done, serve sliced as you usually do.

You will note that SOLO APRICOT or SOLO RUMRAISIN FILLING acts like a glaze. It seals the ham, prevents shrinkage and loss of natural juices, and creates a new taste thrill!

Decker Asks Opinion On Diller High District

State Supt. F. B. Decker said Friday he has asked the attorney general for an opinion which could have some bearing on the sufficiency of petitions for formation of the proposed new Diller high school district.

He explained the question had been raised by a delegation which visited him Thursday, as to whether or not a person who has signed such a petition may ask later to have his signature removed.

If this can be done, the petitions may not now be sufficient on two or three of the districts proposed, for inclusion in the consolidation, Decker said.

Sidney Prosperity Due To Farm, Oil, Defense Effort

Population Signs Are Out Of Date

SIDNEY, Neb. (AP) — Triple-thread prosperity keeps Sidney's city limits population signs out of date.

The signs that said "Population 3,388" before World War II now say 4,912. The governor has proclaimed it a city of the first class, which must have at least 5,000 persons, and local authorities say the city now has some 7,000.

The source of Sidney's husky prosperity is agriculture, oil and the defense effort.

Back in the days before Sidney and Bellevue started a population race that left the rest of Nebraska well behind, wheat and cattle kept Sidney's business brisk.

When war came the big Sioux Ordnance Depot was built 10 miles from town. In post war days the depot has continued to employ some 2,000 persons whose annual pay totals around seven million dollars.

On April 8, 1949, the Mary Egging No. 1 test well came in and the oil and gas industry cascaded into being in Western Nebraska.

The spectacular development of the oil business has changed Sidney's appearance, swelled its population and brought it publicity by the basketful.

"It will be a long time, however, before the oil income can supplant the 12 millions or so a year (it was about 14 millions in 1948) that comes through wheat farming operations, as well as the heavy payroll at the Sioux Ordnance Depot," observed Gordon Tobin, member of a pioneer Sidney family. He is city clerk and partner in a drug store here.

'Never Replace Wheat'
Dr. C. W. Dorwart, former mayor, put it stronger: "The oil industry will never replace the wheat raising business and we don't want it to."

Just the same, Sidney is the capital of a western Nebraska oil empire where more than 750 oil wells and 50 gas wells are producing fortunes daily.

In 1953, Nebraska produced 5,375,525 barrels of oil.

Lots of Building
Flowing wells made pipe lines necessary. A new business has meant new buildings. An influx of oil field workers has spurred local business in general.

Lickety-split building sent construction permits toward the four-million-dollar-a-year mark. New schools, a new hospital, a hotel all came into the picture.

Though agriculture, oil and defense are the Big Three in Sidney's present economy, oil holds prospects for a fourth: Industry. On-the-spot natural gas as a source of power could foster industry on a major scale.

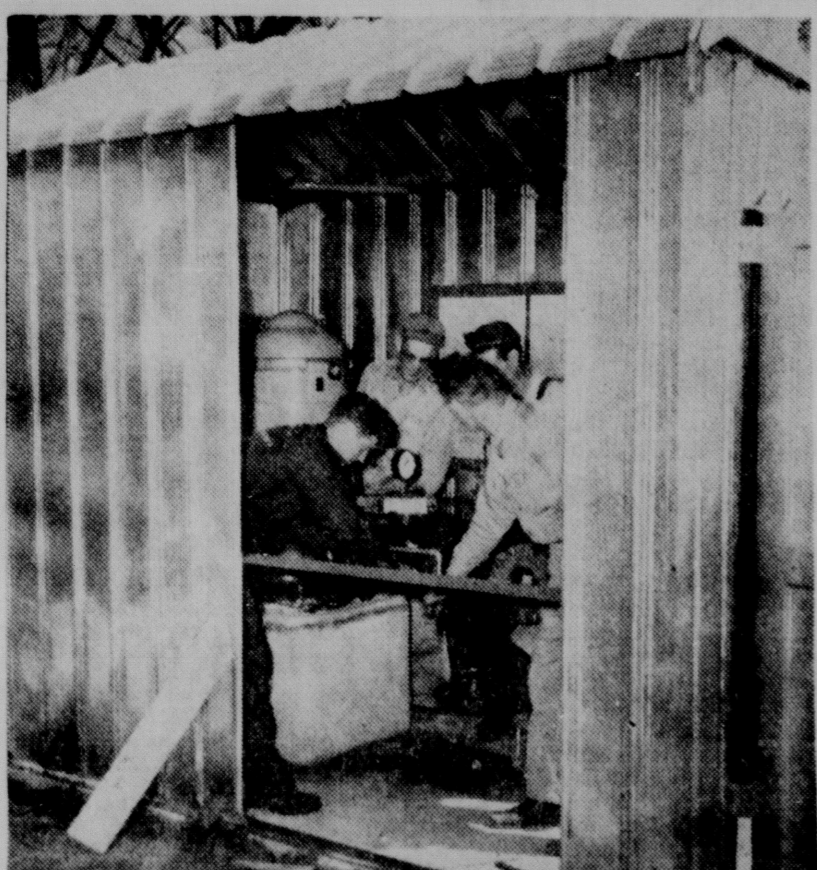

More people of course brought more problems.

Sidney schools gained nearly 500 pupils in less than three years. In the expansion of the school system the city's outgrown junior high school will go to St. Patrick's Academy and be replaced by a larger building.

About the time oil was discovered Sidney's 2,229 telephones averaged 8,000 local and 780 long distance calls a day. Within three years the number of phones had increased to 3,568, the daily call rate had doubled and long distance calls averaged 1,068 a day.

A recent compilation of new businesses here listed 34, and since 1950 about twice that many have been established.

Oil and associated industries brought a payroll of better than 1 1/2 million dollars to the city.

New Water Pump Installed At Wymore

Workers from an Omaha pump company are shown completing installation of a 350-gallon per hour turbine pump on the Wymore city water well. The pump will be connected directly to the city water mains and pumping will begin this week end. At left, supervising the installation, is Al Wondra, Wymore water plant superintendent. Politics, Ranching Experience Mixed In Colorful New Senator

By ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

Speaking on political caravans with which she has toured the state several times made Mrs. Eva Bowring one of the calmest persons present as she was introduced Friday as the newly appointed U. S. Senator and faced a barrage of questions from the press. She will fill the post left vacant by the death of Senator Dwight Griswold.

Mrs. Bowring's political activities had made her acquainted with many of the press group whom she spoke to with first name intimacy. She smiled at the personal question of her first name.

"My name is Eva," she responded, "but most of my friends just call me Eva which is easier and I consider it flattering."

She termed her appointment the "luck of the Irish" and recalled that her maiden name was Kelly and that she was born in Nevada, Mo.

'English' Trouble?

"Aren't they going to have trouble in Washington teaching me English?" she inquired when some asked as to the meaning of the cattle country expressions she used.

She described the reasons she had not attended the recent Founders Day dinner in Lincoln as due to a heavy snow and the need for caring for cattle on the range.

"On a ranch, you have to be ready to say, 'Boys, I can always make a hand,'" she explained in telling how being short of help she mounted a horse and aided in driving the cattle to a feed lot.

'Good Housekeeper'

With a note of pride in her voice she revealed she was a good housekeeper and before leaving the house "I laid a fire in the fireplace." After a 10 mile ride in 40 degree temperatures and bucking snowdrifts she said she enjoyed her robe and a rocking chair in front of the fireplace.

The Cherry County ranch woman calmly parried questions she did not want to answer with witty remarks. When the governor commented that he did not know she was such a wit, she answered:

"What kind of a wit? You know a lieutenant governor of this state once said there are three kinds—full, half and nit." The subtle answer left the governor gasping.

'Only One Offered Job'

She did get serious after the governor said, "I am extremely proud to appoint the first Nebraska woman ever to serve in Congress. She is the only person to whom I offered the appointment and it took two days to persuade her to accept. At one point she tried to say 'no.'"

"I made the appointment because I think the background and familiarity with affairs of government and ability as a thinker in that field makes her the best appointee I can think of regardless of sex. She is eminently qualified to represent Nebraska in the crucial next few months."

"I think Dwight (the late Senator Dwight Griswold) would be pleased and agree with me that her background and personal ability make her a suitable successor."

Mrs. Bowring said she was "aware of the responsibility and the honor to herself personally and to women not only in Nebraska but in all the U. S."

She said that she had hoped to stay at home on the ranch after just returning from a party conference in Washington. "I feel they are sending a very small boy to do a man's job," she said. "I hope when I have completed my short stint that you will say I have done what you wanted me to do."

Womanlike when she posed for a picture with the governor she kicked off her shoes so she would not appear taller than Gov. Crosby. "I don't want anyone to look up to me," she explained.

As she met reporters the 5 foot 5 Eve with a regal bearing that makes her appear taller was wearing a navy blue suit with white blouse and an off-the-face hat of dark straw. She appeared very feminine and not at all what would be expected of one who rides the range on horseback or the mannish-looking political worker.

State Water Hearings Scheduled

Sargent, Niobrara Proposals On List

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Interior Appropriations Sub-Committee will hold three days of hearings beginning April 27 on five proposed new irrigation projects.

These are Sargent in Nebraska, Bluff in Wyoming, Heart Butte in North Dakota, Helena Valley in Montana and Humboldt in Nevada.

The House Interior Committee has scheduled hearings April 26-28 on legislation to approve several Niobrara River irrigation projects in Nebraska. These are Ainsworth, Lavaca Flats, O'Neill and Mirage Flats extension.

The Sargent unit has for its key structure the Milburn Dam which would divert water for a 17,000-acre irrigation area. It is part of the Middle Loup division of the South Platte Valley development.

Overall Plan
The Niobrara projects are part of the overall Niobrara Basin development plan.

The Ainsworth unit would embrace about 45,000 acres of irrigable land and is the second largest irrigation unit in the basin. Its major features are the Merritt Dam and reservoir on the Snake River and the Ainsworth Canal and lateral system. The Merritt Dam would store about 70,000 acre feet of water for subsequent release into the Ainsworth Canal.

The Lavaca Flats unit is in the western third of the basin. It would be developed to supply water to 3,150 acres of irrigable land along the north bank of the Niobrara. The major features of this unit are the Lavaca Flats pumping plant, Lavaca Flats Canal and a lateral and drainage system.

The Mirage Flats extension would expand the irrigated land in the western third of the basin by 45 per cent. It would involve one new dam and reservoir with a storage capacity of 29,300 acre feet.

The O'Neill unit would involve about 66,000 acres of irrigable land. This would be served by a canal from a dam near Meadville.

Overall costs of the Niobrara Basin development have been estimated at 214 million dollars. It would involve five dams and irrigation of about 250,000 acres of land.

Clear To Partly Cloudy Ahead
Clear to partly cloudy skies are forecast for most of the nation except for extreme northern Mississippi valley, southern Florida and north-eastern states. Downward trend in temperatures is due over middle and southern Atlantic states and northern Plains while warmer weather is forecast for New England, upper Mississippi valley, central Plains and central and southern plateau region. BOULDER, Neb.—Funeral services for the Rev. Ellis M. Steen, 74, retired Presbyterian minister, will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday in the First Presbyterian Church at Boulder. Burial will be at Omaha.

The Rev. Mr. Steen served in the ministry for 55 years in Colorado, Nebraska, Texas, Indiana and Illinois. He moved to Boulder in 1943 and was minister of the First Presbyterian Church there until 1947 when he moved to Holyoke. He returned to Boulder the following year again serving at the Boulder Church. He retired from the ministry in 1952.

Surviving are his wife, Ruth; three daughters, Mrs. Dorothy Armstrong of Denver and Mrs. Lois Bergstrom and Mrs. Eunice Olson of Chicago; three sons, Dale of Santa Monica, Calif., Robert of Los Angeles, Calif., and Ellis of Chicago; three brothers, nine grandchildren and one great grandchild.

One-Act Play Clinics To Open High School Fine Arts Festival

First contingent of some 770 students who will take part in the 13th annual Nebraska High School Fine Arts Festival next Friday and Saturday, will arrive at the University of Nebraska Monday for one-act play clinics.

The festival is under the sponsorship of the university's departments of art, music, and speech.

Each high school individual or group entry performs before a university staff member and receives suggestions and criticism, both oral and written. Speech participants will receive ratings. A feature of the speech program will be the appearance of Dr. George R. Kernodle, professor of speech and dramatic art at University of Arkansas.

He will appear in a university convocation in Love Library auditorium at 8 p.m. Thursday. On Friday he will present a special critique of a one-act play entered in the festival, and at 8:30 p.m. in Social Science auditorium will address the festival teachers and students on "Acting: The Spit and Image."

The speech section includes dramatic and humorous readings, interpretative and original oratory, extemporaneous speaking, poetry reading, radio news-casting, discussion and debate. The music section deals only with individual performers but includes both instrumental and vocal divisions. The work of art students is evaluated individually. At the close of the intensive schedule, the students attend a festival luncheon at the Student Union Saturday noon.

Students from the following schools will take part in the festival:

Art—Beatrice, Grand Island, Lincoln Northeast, Omaha Central, Omaha Technical, Scottsbluff, Wayne Prep, Wilber, Wilex.

Roy Hamey New G.M. Of Phillies

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies named Roy Hamey general manager Friday, hopeful that the former New York Yankees official may be able to duplicate here the Yankee copyright: "How to win the championship in five successive seasons."

The appointment, four days after the 1954 pennant chase got under way, came as a complete surprise. The Phillies have operated without a general manager since the death of Herb Pennock in January, 1948.

Hamey, a stocky, soft-spoken man who served a year as president of the American Association and four years as general manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, as well as many years in the Yankee chain had only one of his future steps outlined:

"I have been away from the National League since 1951," he said. "I have to study our player personnel and get together with Manager Steve O'Neill."

"For awhile, at least through the first western trip, I'm going to travel with the Phillies and look things over."

O'Neill was not present at the news conference at which President Bob Carpenter of the Phillies disclosed Hamey's appointment. But Carpenter had no doubt about where Hamey stands in the Phil's operation, specifying that Roy will "concentrate on the major league personnel department."

"He will handle contract signings, negotiate player deals and player purchases, be in charge of player advancement from the farm system."

"The manager and the coaches will come under his jurisdiction," said Carpenter.

The youthful president, who took over all top operating decisions after the death of Pennock, said he will continue to direct club business and administrative problems.

Roy has been assistant general manager of the Yankees since 1951, and Carpenter disclosed that he received formal permission — necessary under baseball law — to talk with him only Thursday.

They met Thursday night, agreed to terms, and Hamey came to Philadelphia Friday for the announcement.

Nothing was said about his salary.

Brooks G. Ragen, captain-elect of the Yale varsity squash team, is six feet tall and weighs 145 pounds.

O'Connor Tops Monday Card

... Girls Featured

A match between Pat O'Connor and Hans Hermann and the return of the girls will headline Promoter Adam Krieger's Fairgrounds wrestling card Monday night.

O'Connor, the popular New Zealand, will try his new weapon, the pile-driver, on the 275-pound Hermann. The new hold, which is already terrorizing television fans, promises to shove O'Connor to the wrestle peak.

"It's the best weapon I have seen in years," commented Krieger.

The girls are back in the semi-windup with Ann Laverne of Cleveland meeting Shirley Strimble of Los Angeles. Krieger describes the pair as "both good looking and good wrestlers."

A mystery character named El Toro, which means "The Bull" in Spanish, meets Roberto Pico of Mexico City in the opener. El Toro is rated one of the brightest new discoveries.

Krieger is saving his choice of referee as a last-minute surprise.

Huskers End Successful Road Trip

By BILL FITZGERALD Star Sports Staff Member

The most promising Nebraska baseball team in recent years came back to town Saturday with the best road trip since the war already in the books and a tough Kansas U. club ready to hit them Monday afternoon on the campus diamond.

In the southwest the Huskers of Tony Sharpe won four of six against three strong clubs which had played two weeks of ball before the Nebraska invasion.

At Tulsa the Huskers started poorly and lost the opener. They came back to hit hard and take a wild second game.

At Houston they swept two from a team which had beaten Minnesota's renowned fast baller, Paul Giel, and was rated near the top of the Texas field. Houston was in the Collegiate World Series in Omaha last spring.

Thursday they split a pair against a Texas U. team which annually figures to win the Southwest Conference as surely as New York figures to take the American League.

Standing as the most promising aspect of the Huskers' early play is the pitching.

Indiana Tony has never had enough boys to throw the ball the way it must be thrown if a club is to win the stiff Big Seven and move on in series play.

In 1948 the Huskers won the title with Angelo Ossino, Jim Sandstead and Lefty Glorystein on the mound, and in 1950 Linus Vrbka of Utica won most of the games. But the big factor both years was the terrific batting power of a collection of experienced ball players who had developed in the state's fast semi-pro leagues.

Now Sharpe has found a sound left hander in Crofton's Fran Hofmaier and a promising right hander in sophomore Jerry Shaw of Mitchell, S. D. Ray Novak figures to be the first right hander and he probably will be out there against K. U. Monday.

Hofmaier shut out a Texas team which had belted two Husker pitchers for 10 runs in the first game Thursday. Lefty Fran had control trouble and walked seven, but he allowed only three hits and must have been tough when necessary.

Shaw had some good moments down south and goes with Pat Mallette and Charley Wright as right handers behind Novak.

Lefty Dick Geier of Lincoln is behind Hofmaier.

The team is hitting .251 with Fred Seger leading the full time players with .337. Norm Coufal hit .417 in part time service and Mallette .429.

Jim Cederdahl and Novak hit the only home runs.

Seger, a .259 hitter last spring, is off on a fine start in his last season of a big sports career at the University. He always hit well in summer ball in the Nebraska Independent League and is noted for his penchant for two-base hits.

The Jayhawks hit the ball well and the pitching was pretty fair. They play here Tuesday too.

Kansas, coming north with its best team since the conference champions of 1949, has had a successful early spring against Arkansas, Tulsa and Kansas State.

Cut May Be For One Year Only NU Athletic Ticket Prices Lowered

Cornhusker athletic fans are going to get cheaper tickets to sports events for at least one year.

Athletic Director Bill Orwig announced that ticket prices are being reduced immediately so far as feasible to pass the recent federal tax cut on to the purchasers.

But he also warned: "I think it is quite likely that ticket prices will have to go up in 1955, but if an increase is necessary it will be clean-cut and understandable to fans."

The reduction, which Orwig says has the approval of the Board of Regents, countermands a recommendation for no change in prices made by the Athletic Board on Mar. 22.

At that time, when it was announced prices would remain the same, the athletic department was expected to realize a gain of from $78,000 to $80,000 because of the new tax law. It was expected the gain would go for improvement of the NU physical education plant or to finance the expanded grant-in-aid program.

The Game Is Now Official

Clark Griffith, president of the Washington Senators, is happy at his Griffith Stadium office Friday as he brandishes a well-traveled souvenir—the scorecard kept by President Eisenhower on the Washington-New York season opener. Ike Knows The Score—Griffith Has The Scoreboard To Prove It

WASHINGTON (AP) — Clark Griffith was displaying a new memento for his already-crowded souvenir chest Friday: A scorecard autographed by President Eisenhower.

"It's a very good scorecard," Griffith commented. "It looks like he kept a very accurate record of the game."

The game in question was the baseball opener on Tuesday in which Eisenhower threw out the first pitch and then watched the Washington Senators defeat the New York Yankees, 5-3 in 19 innings.

Griffith, 84-year-old president of the Senators, said Eisenhower "wrote a little squig on top of the scorecard for me."

The squig said: "To Clark Griffith, from his old friend, Dwight D. Eisenhower."

While the Senators won that first game, the club has lost the next two. Which led Griffith to write Eisenhower that "You'd better come back. It looks like we've run out of lucky rooters."

Griffith disclosed, too, that a rabbit's foot belonging to the president's mother-in-law, Mrs. Elvira Doud, came in handy at the opening game.

"In the 10th inning, she leaned over to me and told me to touch it. I did and a minute later Mickey Vernon knocked a home run and won the game."

That led to another souvenir: the rabbit's foot.

By NORRIS ANDERSON Sports Editor, The Star

Primed and improved, the Lincoln Chiefs officially open the Western League season tonight at Sherman Field against the Omaha Cardinals.

Pre-game ceremonies involving such citizens as Gov. Bob Crosby and Mayor Clark Jeary will be observed at 7:45 with the umpires barking "play ball!" at 8 o'clock.

For the Norm Brown Wietelmann has shuffled through his entire pitching deck and pulled out his ace, 36-year-old Norm Brown (21-11).

It will be a battle of right-handers as Skipper Ferrell Anderson of the Cardinals will lead off with young Bob Blacklock.

In batting order, the Chiefs' starters will be Joe Rivich, third base; Fred Hancock, second base; Johnny Jones, first base; Orinthal Anderson, centerfield; Tom Neill, leftfield; Red McQuillen, rightfield; Larry Neal, shortstop, and Ralph Kennedy, catcher.

A preview was offered Friday night as the Chiefs massaged the Offutt Air Base team, 19-0. It was Stockholders Night and some 500 persons who own certificates turned out to look over their property.

What the shareholders saw was Lincoln, after a slow start, gradually built up steam until a 10-run barrage in the seventh ate up the supply of Offutt pitchers, causing the game to be called after seven innings.

For four innings, the stockholders must have been a bit wary of their investment as a pair of singles and all the Chiefs participated in a serving of 12 walks.

Vance Carlson started on the hill for the Chiefs and allowed the only two hits garnered by the outclassed Offutt crew. Skipper Wietelmann himself hurled the seventh inning and struck out two airmen.

Along with flashing a tricky curve on the mound, Wietelmann also scared a single into centerfield.

A parade in honor of the Chiefs will start today at 2:30 at 15th and O St. It will head west on O to 10th, then south to N St., and finally back to 15th.

Following the home opener, the Chiefs will head for Sioux City for Sunday double bill with Andy Bush and Roger Wright scheduled. They will return to Sherman Field, April 23, against the same Soos.

Firing Opens For All W.L. Squads Today

By the Associated Press

A baseball campaign as difficult to forecast as it is to recognize the players shapes up as the Western League begins action today with seven new managers and a flock of promising newcomers.

The schedule and probable pitchers:

Omaha (Blacklock) at Lincoln (Brown).

Pueblo (Mauriello, Werbach or Jarvis) at Wichita (Wozniak or Mazur).

Strictly on the premise that champions always are the best bet, Colorado Springs holds the edge over the seven remaining teams in the Class A loop. The Sky Sox have back most of their 1953 pitchers, and will be working under Mickey Livingston, one of the new managers.

Catcher Les Pedersen moves up to take the helm at Des Moines, which finished last in 1953 and won the postseason playoffs.

Denver, whose Andy Cohen is the only holdover manager in the league, has only one player left from the club that missed a second straight pennant by only a game. He is outfielder Bobby Prescott. The Bears have three former Omaha performers in Earl Weaver, Neal Hertweck and Pidge Browne.

Pueblo lost most of its regulars from last season, including third baseman Kent Pfisterer, the league batting champion. Manager Goldie Holt will pilot the Dodgers.

Omaha's Cardinals, under Ferrell Anderson, are regarded as the main threat to the 1953 first division club. The Cards finished in fifth position last year.

Improved, but not viewed as title threats, are Lincoln's Sioux City and Wichita, the weaker teams of the 1953 campaign.

The Chiefs will operate under Bill (Whitey) Wietelmann, a former major league infielder; the Sioux City club under Dave Garcia, second baseman on the Soos' pennant champions of 1947; and Wichita under Herb Brett.

Ward Stopped By Johnson In Fifth

NEW YORK (AP) — George Johnson, a hard-punching Trenchard, N.J., middleweight, stopped Moses Ward of Detroit in 1:19 of the fifth round Friday night to rack up his 17th straight victory and the most important triumph of his career.

Ward weighed 158. Johnson 152.

The 23-year-old father of four lost the first three rounds and then came from behind with a fierce and furious attack in the fourth round to drop the muscular Detroit auto worker. The bell saved Ward, who was a 6-5 favorite to win this telecast tenrounder at St. Nicholas Arena.

In the fifth the very Florida-born Johnson staggered his solidly built opponent repeatedly with smashing rights to the jaw. After Johnson connected with three rights flush on the jaw, Referee Pete Scalzo stopped the bout.

Honolulu Match Signed For Olson

HONOLULU (AP) — World middleweight champion Carl "Bobo" Olson will fight in an over-weight, non-title match at Honolulu Stadium May 19. Manager Sid Flaherty announced Friday.

Flaherty said Olson's opponent so far had not been picked "but he will be a good fighter from the mainland."

Chiefs Start Campaign Tonight Against Omaha

THE LINE-UP AT SHERMAN FIELD

In Batting Order, These Lincoln Chiefs Will Face Omaha Tonight

Here's the Lincoln lineup Pitcher Bob Blaylock of the Omaha Cardinals will face tonight at Sherman Field as the

field; Larry Neal, shortstop; and Ralph Kennedy, catcher. Rivich, Hancock, Neill and McQuillen played with the Chiefs last season. Anderson played with Denver the past two seasons while Neal was with Denver in 1951. Kennedy, and Jones will be making their Western League debuts. (Star Photo)

Offutt Routed In Final Tune-up; Brown To Open

Primed and improved, the Lincoln Chiefs officially open the Western League season tonight at Sherman Field against the Omaha Cardinals.

Pre-game ceremonies involving such citizens as Gov. Bob Crosby and Mayor Clark Jearry will be observed at 7:45 with the national anthem barking "play ball" at 8 o'clock.

For the Norm Brown festive evening, Manager Whitey Wietelmann has shuffled through his entire pitching deck and pulled out his ace, 36-year-old Norm Brown (21-11).

It will be a battle of right-handers as Skipper Ferrell Anderson of the Cardinals will lead off with young Bob Blaylock. In batting order, the Chiefs' starters will be Joe Rivich, third base; Fred Hancock second base; Johnny Jones, first base; Orinthal Anderson, centerfield; Tom Neill, leftfield; Red McQuillen, rightfield; Larry Neal, shortstop; and Ralph Kennedy, catcher.

For four innings, the stockholders must have been a bit wary of their investment as a young lefty named Ken Alexander permitted only two hits and did not allow a run.

Lincoln, in fact, did not get a hit until McQuillen screamed a liner through the pitcher's box in the fourth.

A triple by swift Johnny Jones and a lousy home run over the rightfield wall by Neill brought about Alexander's downfall in the fifth. He was succeeded by three gentlemen who looked like they had never seen a plate unless it was loaded with pork chops and spuds.

Jim Harris, immediate successor to Alexander, was a waddling advertisement for Air Force food. The rumor persisted that he was a mess sergeant with the habit of sampling his own delicacies.

Neill led Lincoln's 12-hit attack with his homer and a single. McQuillen contributed a

80 Dogs Entered In Retriever Trial

More than 80 dogs are expected to be on hand today and Sunday for the Nebraska Dog and Hunt Club Field Trials, with the Derby slated to be the first event run off at 8 a.m.

The Derby is for dogs less than 2 years old. About 30 are entered.

The Qualifying Stake, an event for dogs of any age, will follow. Entries in this event however, must not have had enough experience or training to enter the more highly competitive division. About 27 dogs are entered in the Qualifying.

The Open All-Age Stake, for the more experienced dogs of all ages, is the top division of the show.

Roy Hamey New G.M. Of Phillies

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies named Roy Hamey general manager Friday, hopeful that the former New York Yankees official may be able to duplicate here the Yankee copyright: "How to win the championship in five successive seasons."

The appointment, four days after the 1954 pennant chase got under way, came as a complete surprise. The Phillies have operated without a general manager since the death of Herb Pennock in January, 1948.

Hamey, a stocky, soft-spoken man who served a year as president of the American Association and four years as general manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, as well as many years in the Yankee chain had only one of his future steps outlined:

"I have been away from the National League since 1951," he said. "I have to study our player personnel and get together with Manager Steve O'Neill."

"For awhile, at least through the first western trip, I'm going to travel with the Phillies and look things over."

O'Neill was not present at the news conference at which President Bob Carpenter of the Phillies disclosed Hamey's appointment. But Carpenter left no doubt about where Hamey stands in the Philis' operation, specifying that Roy will "concentrate on the major league personnel department."

"He will handle contract signings, negotiate player deals and player purchases, be in charge of player advancement from the farm system."

"The manager and the coaches will come under his jurisdiction," said Carpenter.

The youthful president, who took over all top operating decisions after the death of Pennock, said he will continue to direct club business and administrative problems.

Roy has been assistant general manager of the Yankees since 1951, and Carpenter disclosed that he received formal permission — necessary under baseball law — to talk with him only Thursday.

They met Thursday night, agreed to terms and Hamey came to Philadelphia Friday for the announcement.

Nothing was said about his salary.

O'Connor Tops Monday Card ... Girls Featured

A match between Pat O'Connor and Hans Hermann and the return of the girls will headline Promoter Adam Krieger's Fairgrounds wrestling card Monday night.

O'Connor, the popular New Zealander, will try his new weapon, the pile-driver, on the 275-pound Hermann. The new hold, which is already terrorizing television fans, promises to shove O'Connor to the wrestling peak.

"It's the best weapon I have seen in years," commented Krieger.

The girls are back in the semi-weekly with Ann Laverne of Cleveland meeting Shirley Strimble of Los Angeles. Krieger describes the pair as "both good looking and good wrestlers."

—Kansas U. Next— Huskers End Successful Road Trip

By BILL FITZGERALD
Star Sports Staff Member

The most promising Nebraska baseball team in recent years came back to town Saturday with the best road trip since the war already in the books and a tough Kansas U. club ready to hit them Monday afternoon on the campus diamond.

In the southwest the Huskers of Tony Sharpe won four of six against three strong clubs which had played two weeks of ball before the Nebraska invasion.

At Tulsa the Huskers started poorly and lost the opener. They came back to hit hard and take a wild second game.

At Houston they swept two from a team which had beaten Minnesota's renowned fast baller, Paul Giel, and was rated near the top of the Texas state. Houston was in the Collegiate World Series in Omaha last spring.

Thursday they split a pair against a Texas U. team which annually figures to win the Southwest Conference as surely as New York figures to take the American League.

Standing as the most promising aspect of the Huskers' early play is the pitching.

Indiana Tony has never had enough boys to throw the ball the way it must be thrown if a club is to win the stiff Big Seven and move on in series play.

In 1948 the Huskers won the title with Angelo Ossino, Jim Sandstead and Lefty Glovstein on the mound, and in 1950 Linus Vrbka of Utica won most of the games. But the big factor both years was the terrific batting power of a collection of experienced ball players who had developed in the state's fast semi-pro leagues.

Now Sharpe has found a sound left hander in Crofton's Frank Hofmaier and a promising right hander in sophomore Jerry Shaw of Mitchell, S. D. Ray Novak figures to be the first right hander and he probably will be out there against K. U. Monday.

Hofmaier shut out a Texas team which had belted two Husker pitchers for 10 runs in the first game Thursday. Lefty Fran had control trouble and walked seven, but he allowed only three hits and must have been better when necessary.

Shaw had some good moments down south and goes with Pat Mallette and Charley Wright as right handers behind Novak.

Lefty Dick Geier of Lincoln is behind Hofmaier.

The team is hitting .251 with Fred Seger leading the full time players with .357. Norm Coufal hit .417 in part time service and Mallette .429.

Jim Cedersahl and Novak hit the only home runs.

Seger, a 259 hitter last spring, is off on a fine start in his last season of a big sports career at the University. He always hit well in summer ball in the Nebraska Independent League and is noted for his penchant for two-base hits.

The Jayhawks hit the ball well and the pitching was pretty fair. They play here Tuesday too.

Kansas, coming north with its best team since the conference champions of 1949, has had a successful early spring against Arkansas, Tulsa and Kansas State.

Nebraska averages:

Mallette .429 Pct. 2b 3b Hr
Coufal .125 3 .417 0 0
Seger .271 10 .357 2 0
Cedersahl .217 3 .333 0 1
Giles .192 3 .333 1 0
Becker .192 3 .333 1 0
Ossino .216 7 .286 0 1
Brown .100 2 .200 0 1
Backhaus .125 2 .167 0 0
Hofmaier .143 4 .000 0 0
Holston .131 1 .077 0 0

Shaw .100 3 .000 0 0

Cut May Be For One Year Only NU Athletic Ticket Prices Lowered

Cornhusker athletic fans are going to get cheaper tickets to sports events for at least one year.

Athletic Director Bill Orwig announced that ticket prices will have to go up in 1955, but if an increase is necessary it will be clean-cut and understandable to fans.

The reduction, which Orwig says has the approval of the Board of Regents, countermands a recommendation for no change in prices made by the Athletic Board on Mar. 22.

At that time, when it was announced prices would remain the same, the athletic department was expected to realize a gain of from $78,000 to $80,000 because of the new tax law. It was expected the gain would go for improvement of the NU physical education plant or to finance the expanded grant-in-aid program.

The move makes the following ticket price reductions effective for the 1954-55 season:

STUDENT TICKETS
Former Price Reduced Price
Season football $ 3.00 $ 2.50
Season all other sports 4.00 2.50

PUBLIC TICKETS
Season football 17.50 15.00
Season all other sports 20.00 17.50
Single reserved ticket 3.50 3.00
Single box ticket 4.00 3.50

FACULTY TICKETS
Season football 6.00 5.50
Season all other sports 4.00 3.50
No cut is being made in the prices of single general admission football tickets which remain at $2, or in the 50-cent knothole tickets. Cuts in these two categories are not considered justified because the old rates were already below standard.

Orwig said he believes the price reductions are necessary as a matter of policy.

"When congress removed the federal tax it was expected that the saving would be passed along to ticket purchasers. Our department cannot be placed in the position of appearing to capture tax money which belongs to the fans," he said.

"Actually, the department needs more ticket revenue to support our expanded grant-in-aid program. The proper way to increase ticket revenue, however, is by a clear increase in ticket prices and not by a move which can be interpreted as a pocketing of money intended as a tax saving," Orwig said. "It's a fine point, but there is a matter of policy involved."

Orwig said the decision was complicated by the fact that advertising matter listing the prices of Nebraska football games will have to be changed. It was already printed.

"We will have to see how we get along during the coming year," Orwig said.

Palmer Winner In Central Loop Test

GRAND ISLAND — Palmer won the Central Loop Conference Track Meet here without too much difficulty, beating back nearest challenger Wolbach, 66½-60.

Casey's 2-Platoon Plan Ends Training Doldrums

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Yankees are playing for money now, instead of just for fun, and they're looking like the same old Yankees.

The pitchers are pitching, hitters are hitting and sly old Casey Stengel is running official scorers dizzy with his "hunch" strategy and two-platoon lineups.

"It looks like the opposition is going to keep shooting us all the time," the Yankee manager said Friday while his team took advantage of the Good Friday schedule break. "I'd be a sucker if I didn't load the lineup with right-hand hitters."

The Yankees and all other major leaguers were idle Friday because of the holiday. Action resumes on all fronts today.

Catcher Yogi Berra was the only left-handed hitter in the lineup Thursday when Stengel sent his right-handed wrecking crew against the Philadelphia Athletics. The champs won their second in a row, 3-0, beating the A's lefty Alex Kellner.

Bill Skowron, the rookie who was ticketed for Kansas City but who hit so well in spring practice the Yankees couldn't let him go, hit a homer and triple and got on base a third time when struck by a pitched ball.

Indications are Stengel will continue alternating him with lefthand hitting Joe Collins at first base while possibly trying to make a deal for the team's other first baseman, Eddie Robinson.

The right-hand hitting Bob Cerv (former Nebraska U star) replaced Gene Woodling in left-field. Stengel said this would be the routine shift when the Yankees faced left-handers.

"Opposition managers think by flooding us with southpaw pitching they can keep Collins and Woodling out of action," Stengel said. "I think they are going to stop nursing this notion."

The Yankee manager said originally this spring he had hoped to operate with a set lineup but the team's mediocre showing in exhibitions made him change his mind.

Unbeaten Engineers
Cop Base Tourney
Air Refueling Engineers, a team which did not lose a game in the Lincoln Air Force Base basketball, Friday afternoon won the title with an 85-48 victory over Air Refueling SOC.

The Engineers were led once again by their two highest tournament scorers, John Nocton and Tom Townsend.

Shorty Leydens with 20 and Dick Bragg with 18 led the losers who finished second in the double elimination tourney.

Rockets and was invincible after the first inning when Northeast scored its two runs.

Tall Duane Hester belted a triple to left in the first after George Neill had walked. Hester came in on an error and the Rockets had a 2-0 lead.

Panama tied it when Wieskamp got the first of three hits and Mulder homered to deep left.

Wieskamp settled down and checked Northeast's batters with only one more hit, that a single to Third Baseman Stull.

Panama broke the Rockets in the fifth when Wieskamp singled again and Northeast erred three times for three runs.

In the sixth Bill Burk opened with a triple to left center and scored on a single by Ron Liewald. The consistent Wieskamp doubled and Mulder scored him with another two-base hit.

Senior Larry York of Northeast relieved Delaney in the sixth and was struck by a line drive off the bat of Catcher Ed Kroese. The ball struck his arm and bounced against his neck.

He was stunned but recovered and left the game. Rudy Stoehr, who stopped Panama in a 3-2 Northeast win Tuesday, came on and finished the game without experiencing difficulty.

Podoley Leading Decathlon Event
LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP)—James Podoley, Central Michigan College sophomore, won four of five events and placed third in another for 4,060 points and a commanding lead at the halfway mark in the decathlon event of the Kansas Relays Friday.

The remaining five events will be run off today.

Roger Ruth of Emporia (Kan.) State was second with 3,552 points. Following were John Wilkinson, Ft. Sill artillery school, 3,350; Robert Kemp, Beloit (Wis.) College, 3,115, and Neil Moore, Dana (Neb.) College, 2,945.

Podoley, a 6-foot, 3-inch, 180-pound athlete, won the 100-meter run in 10.5 seconds, the broad jump at 23 feet 4 1/2 inches, the high jump at 6 feet 1 inch, and the 400 meter run in 31.9 seconds. He had 38 feet 11 inches in the shot put, well under his customary standard of about 41 feet.

On the program today are the 110 meter high hurdles, discus throw, pole vault, javelin throw and 1,500 meter run.

Podoley has never run the 1,500 meters but is an able hand in the other events.

Summaries:
Broad jump: 1. James Podoley, Central Michigan, 10.5 seconds, 1.125 points; 2. Roger Ruth, Emporia State, 10.0, 948 points; 3. John Wilkinson, Ft. Sill, Okla., 11 seconds, 808 points; 4. Neil Moore, Dana, 11.1 seconds, 811 points; 5. Robert Kemp, Beloit, 11.4 seconds, 767 points.
Shot put: 1. Robert Kemp, Beloit, 40 ft. 4 in., 551 points; 2. John Wilkinson, Ft. Sill, 39 ft. 9 in., 591 points; 3. James Podoley, Central Michigan, 38 ft. 11 in., 579 points; 4. Roger Ruth, Emporia State, 37 ft. 8 in., 521 points; 5. Neil Moore, Dana, 31 ft. 4 in., 467 points.
400 meter run: 1. Podoley, 31.9, 709 points; 2. Moore, 33.8, 594 points; 3. Ruth, 35.0, 530 points; 4. Wilkinson, 35.5, 480 points; 5. Kemp, 37.1, 428 points.
High jump: 1. Podoley 6-1, 832 points; 2. Wilkinson, 6-0, 794 points; 3. Kemp, 5-10, 734 points; 4. Ruth, 5-10, 734 points; 5. Moore 5-4 1/2, 583 points.

Chiefs-Bruins Tilt Will Be Televised
DES MOINES (AP)—The Des Moines Bruins Friday announced plans to have 21 of their 75 home baseball games televised during the 1954 Western League season.

General Manager John Holland said the first game to be televised would be against Lincoln, April 22. Station KGTW will handle the telecasts.

The terms of the agreement between the station and club were not revealed. However, Holland said the Bruins would receive some compensation.

Telecasts will be limited to Monday, Tuesdays and Fridays. Four three worst nights, from an attendance standpoint," Holland said.

"What we are going to do is to try and use those poor nights to advertise our product," he added.

Iowa State Wins

AMES, Ia. (AP)—Second Baseman Bob Taylor scored both runs for Iowa State College as the Cyclones opened a three-game baseball series with Minnesota with a 2-1 victory in 11 innings Friday.

Minnesota scored its run in the first inning on singles by John Wallford and Gerald Cloutier and an error by Iowa State's Right Fielder Dave Campbell, who let the ball roll through his legs.

The Cyclones tied it up in the sixth when Taylor singled, stole second and came home on Al Machmer's long fly.

Truex Slated For Air Force Hitch

LIMA, O. (AP)—Len Truex, miler who was graduated recently from Ohio State University, was scheduled to check in at Sampson Air Force Base at Geneva, N.Y., for a two-year Air Force hitch.

The 23-year-old Lima native, winner last year of the Philadelphia Inquirer, Milwaukee Journal, Cleveland K of C and Washington Post mile events, will be commissioned a second lieutenant. He served in the Air ROTC at Ohio State. Truex was graduated last quarter.

Truex will be given a permanent assignment after a brief stay at Sampson, he said. He said he was hopeful of competing this spring and summer in AAU meets.

His best time for an indoor mile was 4:07.8 in the Milwaukee Journal meet. Top performance on an outdoor track was 4:09.7 during his junior year at Ohio State.

Workman Saves Teen-Ager From Death In Crushed Rock Pile

... Boy Unhurt After Ordeal

RICHMOND, Calif. (AP)—A 15-year-old boy buried to the neck for three hours in a huge pile of crushed rock was dug out unhurt by a dozen workmen, firemen and volunteers who fought the sliding gravel with their bare hands and a flimsy cofferdam.

Clifford Neal Jr., of El Cerrito was constantly impaled by fresh rock slides. He owed his life to the quick thinking of Pere Icardo, a conveyor operator, who threw a barrel over the boy's head to keep him from being buried alive.

Neal and 16-year-old James Munson of San Pablo, on Easter vacation from school, bicycled to a quarry at Pt. San Pablo, alongside the construction site of the new Richmond-San Rafael bridge across San Francisco Bay.

There they climbed a 75-foot mound of half-inch crushed rock and down into a 20-foot crater-like depression in the center of the top.

Unknown to them, the depression was caused by the flow of the gravel into an underground conveyor belt system directly below, feeding to construction truck loading docks on a road down the hill.

Clifford, amusing himself sliding down the crater walls, suddenly found himself trapped knee deep and rapidly sinking deeper.

His companion ran shouting to Icardo, who immediately shut off the conveyor belt. But by the time they got back to Clifford, the gravel had reached his armpits and he was still sinking.

Icardo snatches up a 55-gallon drum with the bottom and top cut out and thrusts the makeshift cofferdam over Clifford's head. It held back the gravel, which by then had reached the boy's chin.

Oxygen Mask
Workmen summoned by Icardo set to work building a larger cofferdam and the Richmond Fire Department emergency squad fixed an oxygen mask to Clifford's face so he could breathe if he went under.

Working in cramped quarters within the box-like emergency cofferdam, a dozen workmen scooped out the gravel by hand and with a physician administered sedative to Clifford to ease his mounting hysteria.

At one time, his distraught father, who had been summoned by police, had to be restrained from jumping into the pit and attempting to pull his son out by sheer force.

A giant crane was used to remove gravel from the outside of the pile to ease the pressure and workmen managed to loop a belt under Clifford's leg. Finally pulled out, he was in a state of shock, but otherwise uninjured.

Oklahoma Asks Re-Instatement

A Tulsa, Okla., man has applied to the Nebraska Supreme Court for re-instatement to the Nebraska bar.

Lawrence B. Goldman, a former Omaha attorney, was disbarred in 1934 on grounds of misapplication of a client's funds, a Supreme Court official said.

In his petition, Goldman said he doesn't intend ever to practice law in Oklahoma or Nebraska but that he wants to remove the cloud that has been over his name for 20 years.

He said that since he has lived the high type of life "since the disbarment that the court should temper justice with mercy."

He now handles an estate involving a store, hotel and other real estate in Tulsa, his petition said.

Teen-Age Airman Ends His Own Life By Oxygen Exhaustion

VICTORIA, Tex. (AP)—Air Force officers said a young airman committed suicide by setting the controls of an altitude chamber so that he died just as if his oxygen mask had failed at 25,000 feet.

Capt. Everett Brown, Foster Air Force Base public information officer, said it was the first known case of suicide by oxygen exhaustion.

The dead youth was Airman 3c Russell T. Schoonmaker, 19, of Palisade Park, N.J.

Col. C. B. Sonnkalb, base commander, returned the suicide verdict.

Schoonmaker was an operator of the altitude chamber, a room from which the oxygen can be sucked mechanically so that breathing conditions match those at various heights above the earth. It is used to test the reactions of pilots at high altitudes.

"We don't know," Brown said. "He wasn't known to be despondent."

After Battle With Photographer

Charlotte McLeod, formerly Charles McLeod, ex-GI and one-time New Orleans, La., bookkeeper, gestures as she talks to newsmen at a police station in New York after an altercation with a photographer. She had arrived earlier from Europe where she said she underwent a sex-changing operation. Charlotte, 28, received an honorable discharge for medical reasons after serving three months in the Army in 1948. She gave her hometown as Dyersburg, Tenn. (AP Wirephoto.)

Two Special Easter Sunrise Observances Scheduled Here

Two special Easter sunrise observances will be held in Lincoln at 6:30 a.m. Sunday.

The Rev. Richard W. Nutt, Wesley Foundation pastor at the University of Nebraska, will be meditation speaker at the Singfest at Pine-wood Bowl in Pioneer Park. The Greater Lincoln Conservative Ministers Association will hold a service at Sherman Field.

Music will be furnished by Jack Cole, bass soloist; Maryalice Macy, organist; and Fred Boucher, trumpeter. James O. Yowell Jr. will be song leader.

Guest speaker at the service at Sherman Field will be Dr. Cyril Garrett, director of the Wheaton College Academy at Wheaton, Ill. A 100-voice choir from members of the association's churches will sing.

Ranch House Fire Station Operating

The city's new southeast fire station at Cotner and A is now in operation.

"The ranch house type station, costing some $58,000, opened with a 12 men crew and a 500-gallon pumper from station No. 1. The crew will operate in six men shifts of 24 hours each.

The new equipment for the station has been on order for months but is late in arriving. The present pumper is to be used for standby purposes only until the new rig arrives.

In charge of the new station is Floyd Ueberheide. The station is located on ground donated to the city by James Stuart in keeping with the wishes of his father, the late Charles Stuart.

Genoa Treasurman Is Listed As Dead

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army said that Cpl. John H. Ramakers, son of Rudolph P. Ramakers of Genoa, has been listed as dead in Korea. He was previously carried on the missing in action list.

Drinks During Funeral: 'Mystery Body' Had Omaha Name, Address In Billfold

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A billfold with a Social Security card made out to an Omaha man became the first clue Friday as authorities tried to identify a man burned to death in a tourist cabin.

The body was buried as that of Albert L. Paglino, 28-year-old St. Louis meatcutter, but Thursday he, his wife and a pal for her, his "funeral" were arrested and charged with murder of the burned man.

Capt. Harry Newbold of the St. Louis County sheriff's office said the billfold had been badly burned, but when opened the social security card and pictures of a boy and a girl were found almost undamaged.

Willie Burchett

The name on the card was Willie Burchett of Omaha. The pictures were of children about 6 years old and one picture identified the girl as "Gail."

Capt. Newbold said he was trying to locate relatives of Burchett to learn his whereabouts. Paglino's relatives claimed the body after the April 6 fire and buried it last Friday.

Wednesday Sheriff Arthur Mosley got a tip that Paglino had been seen in a tavern the day of his "funeral."

U.S. Pledge Is Offered To France

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower reassured France that American troops will stay in Europe as long as needed to repulse any "threat to that area."

The President's declaration, issued from his vacation headquarters at Augusta, Ga., was addressed to the prime ministers of the six nations involved in the projected European Community (EDC).

But U. S. officials clearly indicated it was aimed at bolstering the French government's politically precarious move toward action on EDC after years of delay.

EDC calls for a unified European army, including German troops, to defend the continent against any Russian aggression. France's delay in ratifying it has been due in large measure to fear of a rearmaged Germany.

President Eisenhower's pledge brought a prompt response from Paris, where a spokesman said Premier Joseph Laniel's cabinet was entirely satisfied that Eisenhower's assurances were fully as valid as Britain's earlier pledge of closer ties with EDC.

Britain not only promised to keep troops on the continent, but to put an armored division and Royal Air Force units in EDC forces.

In the U. S. Congress there were rumblings that Eisenhower had not consulted legislative leaders on his pledge, although he said the essential elements of his position had been discussed with both Republican and Democratic leaders.

Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) foresaw a possible "great debate" rivaling the one three years ago over President Truman's decision to send troops to Europe. Concerning the Eisenhower pledge, Mansfield said:

"There may be a great deal of merit in the proposal, but why weren't leaders of both parties on the Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committee consulted?"

Chairman Wiley (R-Wis.) of the Foreign Relations committee said he knew nothing of the Eisenhower promise until he read news stories about it. But he said that there was apparently "nothing new" in the policy, and he felt sure that if anything new was contemplated, "the President will come to Congress with it."

Only France and Italy have not yet ratified EDC, which Eisenhower described in his message as "the solid core of unity" upon which rests the defense of Western Europe. The four nations which have already ratified are Belgium, The Netherlands, Luxembourg and West Germany.

Car-Prowlers, 16, Sent To Kearney

Two 16-year-old Lincoln youths were committed Friday to the State Training School at Kearney by the Lancaster District Court.

A finding of delinquency had been made when the two admitted prowling about 17 cars in downtown Lincoln and obtaining items ranging from a case of beer to flashlights.

One of the youths had been on probation previously and the other was warned of the state admitted participation in the car prowling while on probation from Kearney, was returned to the training school last week.

Show Goes On

NEW YORK (AP)—The show must go on, even if the stage director falls into the keddledrum. Dr. Otto Erhardt became so engrossed directing a rehearsal of the New York City Opera Co.'s new production of "Falstaff" that he stepped off the stage at New York City Center and landed in the drum. Climbing out of the drum he shouted at the orchestra, "Don't stop—go on. We've got a performance tonight."

Officers said two life insurance policies totalling $5,000 had been issued on Paglino but that no claims had been made on them.

The Omaha address listed for Burchett was an employment agency, police said. Records failed to disclose any Omaha relatives of Burchett.

At Omaha, police said the address given on the Burchett card was that of an employment agency and that Burchett was known to them as a migrant laborer, mainly on railroad track gangs.

Detective Inspector Harry Green said the man they knew as Burchett had several times been arrested here, the last time Dec. 14, 1953, for carrying a concealed weapon—an unloaded gun.

Workman Saves Teen-Ager From Death In Crushed Rock Pile

...Boy Unhurt After Ordeal

RICHMOND, Calif. (AP)—A 15-year-old boy buried to the neck for three hours in a huge pile of crushed rock was dug out unhurt by a dozen workmen, firemen and volunteers who fought the sliding gravel with their bare hands and a flimsy cofferdam.

Clifford Neal Jr., of El Cerrito was constantly imperiled by fresh rock slides. He owed his life to the quick thinking of Pere Icardo, a conveyor operator, who threw a barrel over the boy's head to keep him from being buried alive.

Neal and 16-year-old James Munson of San Pablo, on Easter vacation from school, bicycled to a quarry at Pt. San Pablo, alongside the construction site of the new Richmond-San Rafael bridge across San Francisco Bay. There they climbed a 75-foot mound of half-inch crushed rock and down into a 20-foot crater-like depression in the center of the top.

Unknown to them, the depression was caused by the flow of the gravel into an underground conveyor belt system directly below, feeding to construction truck loading docks on a road down the hill.

Clifford, amusing himself sliding down the crater walls, suddenly found himself trapped knee deep and rapidly sinking deeper.

His companion ran shouting to Icardo, who immediately shut off the conveyor belt. But by the time they got back to Clifford, the gravel had reached his armpits and he was still sinking.

Icardo snatched up a 55-gallon drum with the bottom and top cut out and threw the makeshift cofferdam over Clifford's head. It held back the gravel, which by then had reached the boy's chin.

Oxygen Mask
Workmen summoned by Icardo set to work building a larger cofferdam, and the Richmond Fire Department sent a squad fixed an oxygen mask to Clifford's face so he could breathe if he went under.

Working in cramped quarters within the box-like emergency cofferdam, a dozen workmen scooped out the gravel by hand while a physician administered sedatives to Clifford to ease his mounting hysteria.

At one time, his distraught father, who had been summoned by police, had to be restrained from jumping into the pit and attempting to pull his son out by sheer force.

A giant crane was used to remove gravel from the outside of the pile to ease the pressure and workmen managed to loop a belt under Clifford's leg. Finally pulled out, he was in a state of shock, but otherwise uninjured.

Oklahoma Asks Re-Instatement

A Tulsa, Okla., man has applied to the Nebraska Supreme Court for re-instatement to the Nebraska bar.

Lawrence B. Goldman, a former Omaha attorney, was disbarred in 1934 on grounds of misapplication of a client's funds, a Supreme Court official said.

In his petition, Goldman says he doesn't intend ever to practice law in Oklahoma or Nebraska but that he wants to remove the cloud that has been over his name for 20 years.

He said that since he has lived the high type of life "since the disbarment that the court should render justice with mercy."

He now handles an estate involving a store, hotel and other real estate in Tulsa, his petition said.

Teen-Age Airman Ends His Own Life By Oxygen Exhaustion

VICTORIA, Tex. (AP)—Air Force officers said a young airman committed suicide by setting the controls of an altitude chamber so that he died just as if his oxygen mask had failed at 25,000 feet.

Capt. Everett Brown, Foster Air Force Base public information officer, said it was the first known case of suicide by oxygen exhaustion.

The dead youth was Airman 3c Russell T. Schoonmaker, 19, of Palisade Park, N.J.

Col. C. B. Sonnkab, base commander, returned the suicide verdict.

Schoonmaker was an operator of the altitude chamber, a room from which the oxygen can be sucked mechanically so that breathing conditions match those at various heights above the earth.

It is used to test the reactions of pilots at high altitudes. "What his motives were, we don't know," Brown said. "He wasn't known to be despondent."

After Battle With Photographer

Charlotte McLeod, formerly Charles McLeod, ex-GI and one-time New Orleans, La., bookkeeper, gestures as she talks to newsmen at a police station in New York after an altercation with a photographer. She had arrived earlier from Europe where she said she underwent a sex-changing operation. Charlotte, 28, received an honorable discharge for medical reasons after serving three months in the Army in 1948. She gave her home address as Dyersburg, Tenn. (AP Wirephoto.)

U.S. Pledge Is Offered To France

American Troops Will Stay As Long As Needed, Eisenhower Declares

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower reassured France that American troops will stay in Europe as long as needed to repulse any "threat to that area."

The President's declaration, issued from his vacation headquarters at Augusta, Ga., was addressed to the prime ministers of the six nations involved in the projected European Community (EDC).

But U. S. officials clearly indicated it was aimed at bolstering the French government's politically precarious move toward action on EDC after years of delay. EDC calls for a unified European army, including German troops to defend the continent against any Russian aggression. France's delay in ratifying it has been due in large measure to fear of a armed Germany.

French Pleased
President Eisenhower's pledge brought a prompt response from Paris, where a spokesman said Premier Joseph Laniel's cabinet was entirely satisfied that Eisenhower's assurances were fully as valid as Britain's earlier pledge of closer ties with EDC.

Britain not only promised to keep troops on the continent, but to put an armored division and Royal Air Force units in EDC forces.

In the U. S. Congress there were rumblings that Eisenhower had not consulted legislative leaders on his pledge, although he said the essential elements of his position had been discussed with both Republican and Democratic leaders.

Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) foresaw a possible "great debate" rivaling the one three years ago over President Truman's decision to send troops to Europe. Concerning the Eisenhower pledge, Mansfield said:

"There may be a great deal of merit in the proposal, but why weren't leaders of both parties on the Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committee consulted?"

New To Wiley
Chairman Wiley (R-Wis.) of the Foreign Relations committee did not know anything of the Eisenhower promise until he read news stories about it. But he said that there was apparently "nothing new" in the policy, and he felt sure that if anything new was contemplated, "the President will come to Congress with it."

Meet Star Carrier Carl Rafert

Carl Rafert, Route 636, is the carrier delivering to the Lincoln Star customers in the area of 21st to 26th and Holdrege to Fair.

He nets a profit of about $25 every four weeks on his route, and finds this money comes in handy in buying clothes and shoes and in helping with the family expenses. He hopes to buy a new bike after making his next four week collections.

"Sports are fun to watch," says Carl, "but I like to get out and play myself—especially baseball." At present he plays for Trinity Lutheran School. In addition he has a hobby of building model cars frequently.

Radio work and engineering are Carl's planned future. He hopes to get his necessary training by attending college.

Whenever asked why he likes his Star route, Carl replies that he likes to get out into the "good morning air" and also likes being able to play in the evening after previously getting his work out of the way. He likes all of his customers because they always pay on time. It is felt this is true especially because of the courtesy and good service Carl affords them daily.

Carl lives with his mother, Mrs. Mildred Rafert, and his sister Margaret.

Mrs. Rafert thinks a Star route offers carriers an excellent opportunity to develop well rounded personalities and qualities of good business management. The training offered in money handling is also invaluable.

Apparent low bidders were announced on three Lancaster County highway improvements and the Dunbar-Lorton project in Otter County which has been the subject of considerable controversy with residents favoring two different locations.

Bennet-Prairie Home, 3.9 miles of grading west to Behrens Construction Co., Beatrice at $4,679 and culverts to Capitol Bridge Co., Lincoln, at $4,940.

Hickman-Holland, 3.9 miles west to the same companies at $4,664 and $4,470. Behrens is low on grading 2.8 miles between Lincoln and Prairie Home at $2,950 with Bovee Construction Co., Lincoln, low on culverts at $3,475.

The controversial 4.9 miles between Dunbar and Lorton found W. H. Klammer & Sons, Dunbar, low for grading at $23,345 and for culverts at $25,128. Diamond Engineering Co., Grand Island, was low for a bridge and guard rail at $32,492.

Overtown To Odessa, Missouri Valley Construction Co., Omaha, was apparently low on reconstruction of 15.1 miles between Overtown and Odessa on U.S. 80 with a bid of $405,045.

The same company was reported low also on rebuilding of 11 miles of Neb. 2 between Anselmo and Dunning on a bid of $250,120. This project met opposition of sandhills residents and a hearing was held by the highway commission which approved it.

Inland Construction Co., Omaha, bid low of $166,352 on eight miles of grading and bituminous mat and $10,592 on culverts between Madrid and Elsie.

Nickles Const. Co., Omaha, apparently was low on 6.6 miles of bituminous mat between Valley and Millard at $122,882.

Apparently low was the Missouri Valley Co. on 3.1 miles of grading, culverts and asphalt concrete surface on Blaine street south of Grand Island and between Grand Island and Doniphan at $69,660.

On 5.9 miles west of Ord Thelsson Bros., Osmond, appeared low on grading at $20,280; Coutts Const. Co., culverts at $9,603 and Diamond Engineering on bridges at $45,460.

Estimated cost of all of the projects listed in the letting was $3,700,000 but bids were considerable below this figure. Competition was sharp on all offerings with many new out-of-state firms seeking contracts.

Longtime Farmer At Odell Is Dead

ODELL, Neb.—Adolph F. Stohs, 68, a life long resident of the Odell community, died at a Beatrice hospital after a short illness. He had farmed near Odell for the last 46 years.

Survivors include his wife, Minnie; five daughters, Viola, at home, Mrs. Nora Lohse of Hanover, Kan., Mrs. Deloris Nienna of Beatrice, Mrs. Verna Luuders of Bremen, Kan., and Mrs. Agnes Holle of Marysville, Kan.; and 11 grandchildren.

Services will be held at 1:30 p.m. Monday at the Vance Funeral Home and at 2 p.m. at the Bethlehem Lutheran Church south of Odell. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

Sewer Contract Goes To Asher

A new bidder, Wilmer L. Asher, has been awarded a contract by Sanitary District 1 for construction of a sewer in West Lincoln. Asher's quotation of $7,470.55 was more than $300 under the next lowest bidder of Dobson and Robinson Construction Co. All bids received were well under the District's $11,000 estimate.

Asher told the board he has had extensive digging experience but this would be his first sewer laying job on his own. The sewer will run from a point 300 south of 1st and Oak to the alley north of Oak and then 1,900 feet west in the alley.

Need Replacement For Property Tax

—Donald F. Kline

Tax changes to provide a "replacement" for property taxes now levied for the state general fund to give relief to property owners on the school district level have been urged by Donald F. Kline, executive secretary of the Nebraska State Education Association.

"If we want a 'replacement' of the property tax burden in Nebraska, if we want to discourage uneconomical school districts, if we are really serious about solving Nebraska's tax problem," he said, "we must broaden the tax base and return the proceeds to give relief where relief is needed."

Kline urged a "replacement" tax which would guarantee a reduction of the 3.9 mills now levied for the state general fund with the remaining proceeds returned to local school districts.

Apparent Low Bidders Given On Road Projects

Apparent low bidders were announced on three Lancaster County highway improvements and the Dunbar-Lorton project in Otter County which has been the subject of considerable controversy with residents favoring two different locations.

Bennet-Prairie Home, 3.9 miles of grading went to Behrens Construction Co., Beatrice at $4,679 and culverts to Capitol Bridge Co., Lincoln, at $4,940.

Hickman-Holland, 3.9 miles went to the same companies at $4,664 and $4,876. Behrens was low on grading 2.8 miles between Lincoln and Prairie Home at $2,345 and for culverts at $25,128. Diamond Engineering Co., Grand Island, was low for bridge and guard rail at $32,492.

The controversial 4.9 miles between Dunbar and Lorton found W. H. Klammer & Sons, Dunbar, low for grading at $23,345 and for culverts at $25,128. Diamond Engineering Co., Grand Island, was low for bridge and guard rail at $32,492.

Overtown To Odessa
Missouri Valley Construction Co., Omaha, was apparently low on reconstruction of 15.1 miles between Overtown and Odessa on U.S. 30 with a bid of $405,045.

The same company was reported low also on rebuilding of 11 miles of Neb. 2 between Anselmo and Dunning on a bid of $250,120. This project met opposition of sandhills residents and a hearing was held by the highway commission which approved it.

Inland Construction Co.
Omaha, bid low of $166,352 on eight miles of grading and bituminous mat and $10,592 on culverts between Madrid and Elsie.

Nickles Const. Co., Omaha, apparently low on grading and bituminous mat and $10,592 on culverts between Madrid and Elsie.

A reward of $25.00 will be paid to anyone giving information leading to the conviction of a violator.

Please help us keep our roads free of debris.

Need Replacement For Property Tax

Donald F. Kline
Tax changes to provide a "replacement" for property taxes now levied for the state general fund to give relief to property owners on the school district level have been urged by Donald F. Kline, executive secretary of the Nebraska State Education Association.

"If we want a 'replacement' of the property tax burden in Nebraska, if we want to discourage uneconomical school districts, if we are really serious about solving Nebraska's tax problem," he said, "we must broaden the tax base and return the proceeds to give relief where relief is needed."

Kline urged a "replacement" tax which would guarantee a reduction of the 3.9 mills now levied for the state general fund with the remaining proceeds returned to local school districts.

Sewer Contract Goes To Asher
A new bidder, Wilmer L. Asher, has been awarded a contract by Sanitary District 1 for construction of a sewer in West Lincoln.

Asher's quotation of $7,470.55 was next lowest bidder of Dobson and Robinson Construction Co. All bids received were over the District's $11,000 estimate.

Asher told the board he has extensive digging experience but this would be his first sewer laying job on his own. The sewer will run from a point 300 south of 1st and Oak to the alley north of Oak and then 1,900 feet west in the alley.

GOP Meet Called To Fill Vacancy Left By David Martin Filing

By ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

David T. Martin, Republican state chairman, issued a call for a meeting of the state central committee here May 10 to choose his successor. His chairmanship terminated with his filing Friday as a candidate for the six-year term in the U.S. Senate.

The committee will choose the party chairman, who in turn will appoint a woman to succeed Mrs. Eva Bowring who also forfeited her party position by accepting appointment to the senate to succeed the late Sen. Dwight Griswold.

Martin has been state chairman since 1949. It is reported that John Riddell of York and William Spear of Fremont are both receptive to becoming chairman.

At a press conference announcing a call of the meeting, Martin also announced his filing for the senate race in which Gov. Robert Crosby, State Sen. Terry Carpenter and Walter A. Nielsen of Omaha had earlier filed on the Republican ticket.

In a prepared statement Martin recited achievements of the Republican party in the state during the time he has been chairman. He pointed out that the party has elected representatives to every state and national office and on a percentage basis was fourth in the nation in support of President Eisenhower.

Martin further pointed out there is precedent for his election as Sen. Hugh Butler went from the post of national committeeman to the senate and Sen. Kenneth Wherry was state chairman just before his election.

"As a friend and admirer of the late Senator Griswold, I hope to be able to represent Nebraska in the same forceful manner in which he represented the state," Martin said. "It is vital to the state and to the nation that the present administration retain a working majority in the United States Senate. This can only be done by the election of a Republican Senator this fall."

Martin denied emphatically that Sen. Hugh Butler had urged him not to become a candidate but revealed that he did attempt to persuade another from becoming a candidate.

The Kearney lumberman oozed optimism and announced that he will launch a full-time campaign starting Monday and continuing until the primary election in August.

The former party chairman revealed that his action in filing was not influenced by other entries in the race. He said that shortly after learning of the death of Sen. Griswold he began a telephone canvass of Republican leaders to woo support.

Martin said that he had been assured support of a large number of the party leaders he has been contacting by telephone and that he will begin contacting them personally next week.

He is married and has three children, David, K. 21, Patricia, 18, and John, 13. He has been active in Boy Scout work and the Presbyterian Church with which he is affiliated.

Martin has held numerous county and district offices in the Republican party before being named state chairman and later a member of the national committee.

Escapade Draws 3-year Sentence

Ruel Jeffery Collard, 20, former State Reformatory inmate, was given a three-year Penitentiary term by the Lancaster District Court for escape from the Reformatory.

Collard was apprehended near Sutton on April 10 after he and two other inmates walked off a Reformatory garden detail the previous day.

The defendant admitted driving a car, which the trio stole in Lincoln, to near Fremont, where it was abandoned.

Collard said he then took a tractor from a nearby farm, which he drove to Sutton, where he took another car just prior to his arrest. The other two inmates are still at large.

Collard has been transferred to the Penitentiary to complete a one-to-three year term he was serving at the Reformatory for car theft in Scotts Bluff County. The three-year sentence for escape was made consecutive to car-theft term.

Airport's Navigational Facilities Questioned

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The CAA regional air-space subcommittee has decided to recommend discontinuance of the low frequency navigational facility at the Scottsbluff airport. The committee found activity at the airport did not warrant continued operation.

GOP Meet Called To Fill Vacancy Left By David Martin Filing

By ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

David T. Martin, Republican state chairman, issued a call for a meeting of the state central committee here May 10 to choose his successor. His chairmanship terminated with his filing Friday as a candidate for the six-year term in the U.S. Senate.

The committee will choose the party chairman, who in turn will appoint a woman to succeed Mrs. Eva Bowring who also forfeited her party position by accepting appointment to the senate to succeed the late Sen. Dwight Griswold.

Martin has been state chairman since 1949. It is reported that John Riddell of York and William Spear of Fremont are both receptive to becoming chairman.

At a press conference announcing a call of the meeting, Martin also announced his filing for the senate race in which Gov. Robert Crosby, State Sen. Terry Carpenter and Walter A. Nielsen of Omaha had earlier filed on the Republican ticket.

In a prepared statement Martin recited achievements of the Republican party in the state during the time he has been chairman. He pointed out that the party has elected representatives to every state and national office and on a percentage basis was fourth in the nation in support of President Eisenhower.

Martin further pointed out there is precedent for his election as Sen. Hugh Butler went from the post of national committeeman to the senate and Sen. Kenneth Wherry was state chairman just before his election.

"As a friend and admirer of the late Senator Griswold, I hope to be able to represent Nebraska in the same forceful manner in which he represented the state," Martin said. "It is vital to the state and to the nation that the present administration retain a working majority in the United States Senate. This can only be done by the election of a Republican Senate this fall."

Martin denied emphatically that Sen. Hugh Butler had urged him not to become a candidate but revealed that he did attempt to persuade another from becoming a candidate.

The Kearney lumberman oozed optimism and announced that he will launch a full-time campaign starting Monday and continuing until the primary election in August.

The former party chairman revealed that his action in filing was not influenced by other entries in the race. He said that shortly after learning of the death of Sen. Griswold he began a telephone canvass of Republican leaders to woo support.

Martin said that he had been assured support of a large number of the party leaders he has been contacting by telephone and that he will begin contacting them personally next week.

He is married and has three children, David K., 21, Patricia, 18, and John, 13. He has been active in Boy Scout work and the Presbyterian Church with which he is affiliated.

Martin has held numerous county and district offices in the Republican party before being named state chairman and later a member of the national committee.

Escapée Draws 3-year Sentence

Ruel Jeffery Collard, 20, former State Reformatory inmate, was given a three-year Penitentiary term by the Lancaster District Court for escape from the Reformatory.

Collard was apprehended near Sutton on April 10 after he and two other inmates walked off a Reformatory garden detail the previous day.

The defendant admitted driving a car, which the trio stole in Lincoln, to near Fremont, where it was abandoned.

Collard said he then took a tractor from a nearby farm, which he drove to Sutton, where he took another car just prior to his arrest. The other two inmates are still at large.

Collard has been transferred to the Penitentiary to complete a one-to-three year term he was serving at the Reformatory for car theft in Scotts Bluff County. The three-year sentence for escape was made consecutive to car-theft term.

Airport's Navigational Facilities Questioned

KANSAS CITY (P)—The CAA regional air-space subcommittee has decided to recommend discontinuance of the low frequency navigational facility at the Scottsbluff airport. The committee found activity at the airport did not warrant continued operation.
